Dominican Settlement Seen Possible

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — New statements by two leaders of the Dominican junta appeared today to open the door to a settlement of the stalemate in the Caribbean trouble spot.

Gen. Antonio Imbert Barreras, junta president, said Thursday night that the most difficult part of his task was completed and he would step down when the Dominican people were assured of safety from communism, anarchy and despotism.

Communism, Imbert said in a televised speech, had been confined to just one sector of Santo Domingo. He meant the rebel sector.

The remaining task, he said, could be done by any "well intentioned Dominican." He added that the armed forces and the political parties should share in the responsibility for safe guarding the country.

Imbert said any attempt by the Organization of American States to impose a provisional government would be a "gross act of intervention."

But he said he would not be an obstacle to a peaceful solution of the crisis touched off by the rebellion April 24. Previously Imbert had said he would step down only after an elected government took office.

Peace prospects got a further boost Thursday night when the armed forces secretary, Comodoro Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, told a newsman the armed forces would support any democratic solution put forward by the OAS. He added that the junta, which he said the army considered a "democratic government," also would back the OAS.

The OAS proposed a settlement June 18 calling for creation of a provisional government followed by general elections in six to nine months.

The junta's first reply amounted to a virtual rejection of the plan. The junta proposed itself as the basis for a provisional government — a suggestion completely unacceptable to the rebels. The rebels had agreed to the OAS plan with minor reservations.

Growers say that they are benefiting little from the higher prices because of a reduced volume of marketings and higher labor costs. A critical time could come in September and October, a time of harvest for vegetables and processing and also a time when many high school students now being hired for farm labor will be back at their studies.

Yet grower leaders say it is unlikely such a small decline in production would have raised prices to a level 41 per cent above those of a year earlier, which was the peak figure in mid-May.

Shrine Due To Attract Thousands

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thousands are expected this weekend to tour the old, red brick building on Philadelphia's Chestnut Street where the Declaration of Independence was signed 189 years ago.

They will be among the more than two million persons who annually visit Independence Hall, including tourists from all states and many countries.

Heads of state and presidents periodically visit it. Independence Hall was originally built in the early 1730s to house Pennsylvania's General Assembly.

Delegates from throughout the colonies came to it to take up grievances against the British crown in 1776 and eventually proclaimed their independence. When originally built, the structure had no bell tower. One was added later, torn down, then restored. In it was hung in 1753 the state house bell now known as the Liberty Bell.

The bell, with the biblical inscription "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof," was ordered by the superintendents of the State House, supposedly to commemorate the 50th anniversary of William Penn's charter of privileges.

The bell is now housed in the hall, forever muted by a huge crack. At the time of the signing of the Declaration it hung in Independence Hall and presumably could have rung to proclaim the signing.

First Cavalry Is Back Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — The colors of the historic 1st Cavalry Division have returned to the United States from the Far East after 22 years and two wars.

Those colors haven't been home since the vanguard of the division left the United States in May 1943 to fight the Japanese in the Pacific.

The 1st Cavalry's flag — decorated with streamers for distinguished service in World War II and Korea — will be handed to the Army's newest type "airmobile" division in a ceremony Saturday at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Thus, the Airmobile Division — designed to ride to battle aboard a fleet of more than 400 helicopters — will inherit a tradition dating back to the horse soldiers of Robert E. Lee and George Armstrong Custer.

At the same time, the colors of the 2nd Infantry Division will be transferred to Korea, to replace those of the 1st Cavalry. There will be no shift in manpower.

Although called cavalry, the 1st has been essentially an infantry division for nearly a quarter of a century.

More than 20,000 men who wore the yellow and black shoulder patch of the division became casualties — killed and wounded — in 10 campaigns of World War II and Korea.

Of course, the roster of the division has changed many times in the more than two decades of service in hot and cold war.

It first saw combat in the Admiralty Islands in early 1944 beating off a Banzai charge by Japanese imperial marines. Later, the 1st Cavalry was in the spearhead of the American return to the Philippines and led the way into Manila.

After the Japanese quit, the honor of entering Tokyo first fell to the men of the horseless cavalry.

Countryside Loaded With Young Turkeys

SARDINIA, Ind. (AP) — There may be an early Thanksgiving for residents around this hamlet 15 miles southwest of Greensburg in east-central Indiana.

A truck carrying about 5,000 baby turkeys hit a tree near here Thursday. Some of the birds were killed but many escaped into the countryside.

Police said the congressman and Partomian J.C. Goodwin were standing between their cars when the truck, driven by Norman Turner, 53, of Westville, N.J., apparently sideswiped the patrol car and slammed into the left rear of Thompson's 1965 Cadillac.

Thompson was thrown 18 feet and killed instantly. The truck continued for 264 feet down Interstate 85 before overturning. It was carrying egg crates and barrels of liquid soap.

Mrs. Thompson, 36, Christine Lea Thompson, 10, Ted Arthur Thompson, 7, and the maid, Evelina Poulard, 52, had remained in the car. They were flown to their Ville Platte, La., home today in the plane of Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen.

New Algeria Regime Seen Neutral, Anti-Communist

ALGIERS (AP) — The new Algerian regime, in the opinion of Western diplomats here, is moving toward a more neutral position in world affairs coupled with an anti-Communist policy at home.

This can have a wide effect on political relations among the nations of the African-Asian community.

It can lead many nations to take a new look at the "second Bandung" summit, now scheduled for Nov. 5.

Chef Belkacem, minister of education and information in the new regime, served notice of the switch in domestic policy in an interview with the official newspaper.

Belkacem put it this way: "We have known strange professors who, incapable of achieving the revolution in their own countries, pretend to be doing it here, according to plans which have nothing to do with Algeria."

"We have put them aside. We do not want them as guides. They are free to go where they wish, but not to indoctrinate our youth."

Col. Houari Boumedienne's regime has expelled a number of French, Chinese and Egyptian Communists who acted as advisers to deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Two correspondents of the Paris Communist paper L'Humanite also have been expelled.

On the other hand, Fidel Castro in Cuba and Sekou Toure in Guinea have issued statements attacking Boumedienne, Castro called Boumedienne a "military despot, a rightist, a reactionary, and an enemy of socialism and the Algerian revolution."

Boumedienne's military regime ordered Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency, to close its Algiers office Thursday because it distributed copies of Castro's speech.

Toure praised Ben Bella and said he hoped Algerians will avoid a "Congolization" of their country.

This points to closer relations with French-speaking states of "black Africa" which refused to attend the Afro-Asian session as originally scheduled here June 29.

It also points to better relations with Algeria's neighbors in the Arab world, Tunisia to the east and Morocco to the west.

The new regime is expected to tread a careful course between East and West, much in the manner of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, told the Senate Thursday the United States must seek a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons "before the most terrible of all wars—perhaps final war—is precipitated."

Young said the time has arrived for the United States to invite the Soviet Union, Red China, England and France, as well as other nations with a potential nuclear capacity, to join in working out such a treaty.

Young praised the recent Senate speech by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N. Y., urging that efforts to seek a treaty against proliferation of nuclear weapons be given "central priority" in U. S. policy.

More 'Ready' If Needed, Chief Says

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP) — The top U.S. Marine Corps officer in the Pacific said today he is prepared to throw more Marines into action in South Viet Nam.

"I've got them and they are ready," Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak told a news conference.

Krulak said he did not believe the Viet Cong attack Thursday on the Da Nang air base was a case of lax security. However, he said the mortar barrage and the infiltration could not simply be accepted as an unfortunate occurrence.

Krulak said an investigation of the attack will be completed within a couple of days.

Any decision to send more Marines into South Viet Nam is up to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, Krulak said.

About 500 more U.S. Marines landed Thursday in Qui Nhon, 270 miles northwest of Saigon, bringing total Marine strength in the country to nearly 17,000 men. Of these, 9,500 are in and around Da Nang.

Krulak arrived Thursday on an inspection tour.

Meanwhile, U.S. warplanes pounded the airfield and barracks in North Viet Nam's Dien Bien Phu today, site of the decisive French defeat in the Indochina war.

GI Widow's Faith Buoyed

NEW YORK (AP) — Words of sympathy and encouragement — including those of President Johnson — have restored faith in human nature to a young mother whose soldier-husband was killed in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Eleanor O'Sullivan, left with two small children, was the target last month of abusive telephone calls saying Capt. Christopher O'Sullivan "got what he deserved."

When accounts of the calls were published, letters and telegrams of sympathy poured into the Astoria, Queens, home of O'Sullivan.

President Johnson's letter said in part: "I sincerely hope that the memory of your husband's dedicated service will be a source of comfort and pride to you and, in later years, to your sons."

Most businesses and offices will observe Independence Day on Monday since the holiday falls on Sunday this year.

All county, state and federal offices will be closed and there will be no mail delivery, city or rural. The lobby of the post office will be open as usual for the deposit of mail and purchase of stamps through the vending machine.

Included among federal and state operations that will be closed are the Pickaway ASC office, 206 S. Court St., and the State Liquor Store, 108 E. Franklin St.

Treasurer Says State Stays within Income

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio stayed within its income during fiscal 1964-65, State Treasurer John D. Herbert reported Thursday.

Herbert said total state income amounted to $1.916 billion, while expenditures totaled $1.743 billion. Balance on hand at the beginning of the new fiscal year Thursday was $414 million, as compared to a balance of $283 million on July 1, 1964, an increase of 45.9 per cent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Public Health Service advisory committee predicted today there probably will be an increased number of influenza cases in the coming winter season.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry announced the committee's recommendation for vaccination of persons in groups which experience high mortality from epidemic influenza.

The Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices noted that influenza incidence in the United States during 1964-65 was relatively limited. The last major epidemic of Type A influenza occurred in 1962-63 in most of the country and in 1963-64 on the West Coast.

Since the outbreaks come in two to three year cycles, "the committee anticipates that somewhat increased amounts of influenza may be expected in the coming season," the health service said.

The committee urged that persons in the following groups be vaccinated against influenza: Those suffering from chronic debilitating diseases, older persons, pregnant women and patients in nursing homes and other environments in which crowded living arrangements may lead to a more rapid spread of the disease.

Vegetable Prices Decline, But Still Are Above '64

WASHINGTON (AP) — The housewife has found some relief from the high prices she paid for fresh vegetables in May, but she still is paying a lot more in this category than a year ago.

By the same token, there has been some letup in a controversy between grower groups and government officials over the rise in vegetable prices this spring. But they still disagree as to the causes.

An Agriculture Department report shows that prices paid growers for fresh vegetables in mid-June were down about 8 per cent from mid-May. Nevertheless they still are 21 per cent higher than a year earlier. No figures were available on the increases in retail prices over a year ago.

Spokesmen for vegetable growers claim the price advance this spring was caused by a reduction in marketable supplies. They said their inability to get an adequate supply of skilled farm workers to cultivate and harvest the crops forced prices up.

But both the Agriculture and Labor Departments have claimed this to be untrue. They have said there have been and still are plenty of workers among the unemployed. The Labor Department has conducted recruitment programs. The Agriculture Department has said the production of fresh vegetables this spring was down only 2 per cent from a year earlier.

Yet grower leaders say it is unlikely such a small decline in production would have raised prices to a level 41 per cent above those of a year earlier, which was the peak figure in mid-May.

Growers say that they are benefiting little from the higher prices because of a reduced volume of marketings and higher labor costs. A critical time could come in September and October, a time of harvest for vegetables and processing and also a time when many high school students now being hired for farm labor will be back at their studies.

The OAS proposed a settlement June 18 calling for creation of a provisional government followed by general elections in six to nine months.

The junta's first reply amounted to a virtual rejection of the plan. The junta proposed itself as the basis for a provisional government — a suggestion completely unacceptable to the rebels. The rebels had agreed to the OAS plan with minor reservations.

Russia Launches Unmanned Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched another unmanned satellite today in its Cosmos series, Tass news agency announced.

The observatory in Bochum, Germany, had reported picking up signals it said varied from the Cosmos series. The observatory had said it could not tell whether the satellite was manned or unmanned.

The new satellite, Cosmos 70, "carries scientific equipment designed to continue the study of outer space," Tass reported. "The apparatus on board the satellite is functioning normally," the agency added.

When originally built, the structure had no bell tower. One was added later, torn down, then restored. In it was hung in 1753 the state house bell now known as the Liberty Bell.

The bell, with the biblical inscription "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof," was ordered by the superintendents of the State House, supposedly to commemorate the 50th anniversary of William Penn's charter of privileges.

The bell is now housed in the hall, forever muted by a huge crack. At the time of the signing of the Declaration it hung in Independence Hall and presumably could have rung to proclaim the signing.

Independence Hall served as the capitol during some of the revolution and later.

New Algeria Regime Seen Neutral, Anti-Communist

ALGIERS (AP) — The new Algerian regime, in the opinion of Western diplomats here, is moving toward a more neutral position in world affairs coupled with an anti-Communist policy at home.

This can have a wide effect on political relations among the nations of the African-Asian community.

It can lead many nations to take a new look at the "second Bandung" summit, now scheduled for Nov. 5.

Cherif Belkacem, minister of education and information in the new regime, served notice of the switch in domestic policy in an interview with the official newspaper.

Belkacem put it this way:

"We have known strange professors who, incapable of achieving the revolution in their own countries, pretend to be doing it here, according to plans which have nothing to do with Algeria."

"We have put them aside. We do not want them as guides. They are free to go where they wish, but not to indoctrinate our youth."

Col. Houari Boumedienne's regime has expelled a number of French, Chinese and Egyptian Communists who acted as advisers to deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Two correspondents of the Paris Communist paper L'Humanite also have been expelled.

On the other hand, Fidel Castro in Cuba and Sekou Toure in Guinea have issued statements attacking Boumedienne. Castro called Boumedienne a "military despot, a rightist, a reactionary, and an enemy of socialism and the Algerian revolution."

Boumedienne's military regime ordered Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency, to close its Algiers office Thursday because it distributed copies of Castro's speech.

Toure praised Ben Bella and said he hoped Algerians will avoid a "Congolization" of their country.

This points to closer relations with French-speaking states of "black Africa" which refused to attend the Afro-Asian session as originally scheduled here June 29.

It also points to better relations with Algeria's neighbors in the Arab world, Tunisia to the east and Morocco to the west.

The new regime is expected to tread a careful course between East and West, much in the manner of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser.

THE HERALD will not be published Monday in observance of the July Fourth holiday. Features, sports results and comics normally printed on Monday will be carried in Tuesday's edition.

Most local business firms and government offices will close their doors Monday in tribute to the Independence Day celebration. The main exception will be law enforcement agencies, firemen and other essential personnel who will be on duty as usual.

DR. FRANK R. MOORE, Pickaway County health commissioner, joins with local law enforcement officers in urging area residents "To have fun on the Fourth but practice safe habits on the highway, in recreation areas and in the home so you can enjoy the Fifth, too."

Sen. Young Calls For Nuclear Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, told the Senate Thursday the United States must seek a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons "before the most terrible of all wars—perhaps final war—is precipitated."

Young said the time has arrived for the United States to invite the Soviet Union, Red China, England and France, as well as other nations with a potential nuclear capacity, to join in working out such a treaty.

Young praised the recent Senate speech by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., urging that efforts to seek a treaty against proliferation of nuclear weapons be given "central priority" in U. S. policy.

New Satellite Circles Globe

Tiros To Keep Weather Watch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Tiros 10 weather satellite circled the globe today, its camera eyes ready to record the birth and movement of hurricanes, typhoons and other storms over a great area of the globe.

The mechanical meteorologist, launched late Thursday night, joined three other operating Tiros satellites — nos. 7, 8 and 9 — on space patrol. The quartet could provide the most comprehensive photographic coverage yet of a full season of tropical storms.

Tiros 10 is the first of the series paid for by the U.S. Weather Bureau and is the forerunner of an operational system the bureau plans to begin launching early in 1966.

The previous nine Tiros satellites, all successful, were financed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Although classed as research vehicles, many of the more than half a million pictures they have produced were used in operational weather channels around the world.

Tiros 10 rode into space atop a Delta rocket that roared off its launching pad Thursday night and blazed into a dark Florida sky. The Douglas Delta, recording its 30th satellite success in 32 launchings, hurled the 290-pound payload into a north-south orbit more than 400 miles above the earth.

Initial cloud cover pictures from the satellite are not expected until Saturday or Sunday. Ground controllers want first to jockey the craft into an angle that will provide its two cameras with the best look possible at the hurricane spawning grounds of the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico. The satellite will transmit more than 400 photos daily, covering nearly 80 per cent of the earth.

Influenza Outbreak Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Public Health Service advisory committee predicted today there probably will be an increased number of influenza cases in the coming winter season.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry announced the committee's recommendation for vaccination of persons in groups which experience high mortality from epidemic influenza.

The Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices noted that influenza incidence in the United States during 1964-65 was relatively limited. The last major epidemic of Type A influenza occurred in 1962-63 in most of the country and in 1963-64 on the West Coast.

Since the outbreaks come in two to three year cycles, "the committee anticipates that somewhat increased amounts of influenza may be expected in the coming season," the health service said.

The committee urged that persons in the following groups be vaccinated against influenza: Those suffering from chronic debilitating diseases, older persons, pregnant women and patients in nursing homes and other environments in which crowded living arrangements may lead to a more rapid spread of the disease.

More 'Ready' If Needed, Chief Says

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP) — The top U.S. Marine Corps officer in the Pacific said today he is prepared to throw more Marines into action in South Viet Nam.

"I've got them and they are ready," Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak told a news conference.

Krulak said he did not believe the Viet Cong attack Thursday on the Da Nang air base was a case of lax security. However, he said the mortar barrage and the infiltration could not simply be accepted as an unfortunate occurrence.

Krulak said an investigation of the attack will be completed within a couple of days.

Any decision to send more Marines into South Viet Nam is up to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, Krulak said.

About 500 more U.S. Marines landed Thursday in Qui Nhon, 270 miles northwest of Saigon, bringing total Marine strength in the country to nearly 17,000 men. Of these, 9,500 are in and around Da Nang.

Krulak arrived Thursday on an inspection tour.

Meanwhile, U.S. warplanes pounded the airfield and barracks in North Viet Nam's Dien Bien Phu today, site of the decisive French defeat in the Indochina war.

South of the border, government troops killed 120 Viet Cong and captured eight others in three ground operations, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

Communists mortars hit two air strips with mortar fire during the night. U.S. spokesmen said three helicopters were damaged at Cheo Reo, 220 miles northeast of Saigon, and another helicopter crashed due to (Continued on Page 2)

GI Widow's Faith Buoyed

NEW YORK (AP) — Words of sympathy and encouragement—including those of President Johnson — have restored faith in human nature to a young mother whose soldier-husband was killed in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Eleanor O'Sullivan, left with two small children, was the target last month of abusive telephone calls saying Capt. Christopher O'Sullivan "got what he deserved."

When accounts of the calls were published, letters and telegrams of sympathy poured into the Astoria, Queens, home of O'Sullivans.

President Johnson's letter said in part: "I sincerely hope that the memory of your husband's dedicated service will be a source of comfort and pride to you and, in later years, to your sons."

Most Firms Here To Close Monday

Most businesses and offices will observe Independence Day on Monday since the holiday falls on Sunday this year.

All county, state and federal offices will be closed and there will be no mail delivery, city or rural. The lobby of the post office will be open as usual for the deposit of mail and purchase of stamps through the vending machine.

Included among federal and state operations that will be closed are the Pickaway ASC office, 206 S. Court St., and the State Liquor Store, 108 E. Franklin St.

Treasurer Says State Stays within Income

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio stayed within its income during fiscal 1964-65, State Treasurer John D. Herbert reported Thursday.

Herbert said total state income amounted to $1.916 billion, while expenditures totaled $1.743 billion. Balance on hand at the beginning of the new fiscal year Thursday was $414 million, as compared to a balance of $283 million on July 1, 1964, an increase of 45.9 per cent.

Antidiscrimination Agency Eyes Bans Due to Race, Religion, Sex

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal commission with the aim of ending job discrimination on account of race, religion, sex or national origin is open for business today.

Its chairman, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., said Thursday the emphasis would be on persuasion and conciliation, rather than "persecution."

The commission's legal existence began at midnight Thursday night, and its task is considered to be enormously complex.

In the course of a news conference Thursday, Roosevelt said he did not intend to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for mayor of New York City, saying he thought he could do more good as chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Other members of the five-member commission are making field trips to explore the problems they will be expected to deal with — charges of discrimination in hiring, firing, promotion or other employment practices.

Roosevelt said the commission welcomes these complaints as well as suggestions on how it should operate.

While persuasion is the watchword, if an employer or labor union or employment agency persists in discrimination, it could find itself hauled before a federal court. Then if the court's orders were defied the offender could be jailed for contempt.

In the long, complicated Title VII there are many clauses and exemptions. For example, a newspaper cannot be punished for publishing a discriminatory ad but the person who offered the ad might be.

The title makes its bow under fire from several directions. Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., described it Thursday as "a useless agency, unnecessary and uncalled for."

Some civil rights organizations, including the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, have criticized the time consuming processes specified in Title VII. For one thing an aggrieved person cannot get federal action until he has exhausted his remedies under state fair employment practices laws. Twenty-six states have such laws, some stronger than others.

Exempt from Title VII are federal and state governments, Indian tribes (which may discriminate in favor of Indians), bona fide private membership clubs, persons employed by an educational institution to perform educational work, persons employed by a religious educational institution, and persons who refuse to employ Communists.

Also exempt are particular jobs with prime requisites that depend on religion, sex or nationality — a ladies' corset shop, for example, or perhaps a religious bookshop. But this exemption does not extend to race or color.

The word "sex" in the law, which was inserted in the House by a Southern foe of the legislation, may give the commission its biggest headache.

Suppose a male waiter thought he should be hired by a female waitress.

For that matter, a husky woman might apply for a cross-country truck driving job and claim she was discriminated against if she didn't get it.

These are questions which don't have answers yet.

Man Fined $200 for OMVI, Leaving Scene of Accident

John W. Rush, 55, Route 1, Orient, was fined $200 and costs by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Rush, arrested by Pickaway County Deputy Homer Adams following an automobile crash, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

Other motorists listed on the court docket included: Edward R. Brown, 44, Franklin Furnace; Elaine Corcoran, 19, Williamsport; Gordon Liddle, 46, Winston Salem, N. C.; Claude Ross, 19, Wayne, W. Va.; all were fined $10 and costs for exceeding the speed limit by ten miles per hour.

Policemen Probe Entry at Home

City police yesterday afternoon investigated an entry at the William Goeller residence, 1040 Atwater Ave.

Goeller discovered the entry when he returned home to lunch. He said he had left the house at about 6:30 a. m.

Police said an undisclosed amount of money was taken from a chest of drawers. Entry was gained by breaking a section of storm door and a small glass on the regular entrance door.

Chief Robert Temple and Sgt. Turney Ross investigated.

mechanical failure after it took off during the attack on the Soc Trang strip, 100 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen said a total of 30 planes pounded the targets at Dien Bien Phu, about 185 miles west northwest of Hanoi. They said no anti-aircraft fire was encountered over the scene of the bitter 1954 fighting and no enemy planes were sighted.

All planes returned safely from the mission, almost on the Laotian border, they said.

The Viet Cong fired 20 to 25 mortar shells into the Soc Trang airfield, but U.S. helicopters there were hurriedly flown to another field. Damage was minor.

Another air strike today took 20 Navy Skyhawks and Crusaders 40 miles southeast of Hanoi, the closest yet to the North Vietnamese capital since air raids on the Communist North began Feb. 7, the spokesmen said. The raiders attacked the Nam Dinh oil storage tanks, described as one of the biggest petroleum tank areas in North Viet Nam. Pilots reported flames from the storage tanks shot more than 200 feet into the air from all compounds and approximately eight large tanks were destroyed, the spokesmen said.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered, pilots reported, but no enemy planes were sighted and all planes returned safely to the carrier Oriskany, the spokesmen said.

Man Fined $200 On Charge of Theft Attempt

William Kuhn, 20, Route 1, Kingston, was charged with attempted theft today in Circleville Municipal Court by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

Kuhn entered a plea of innocent. He was found guilty by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb and fined $200 and costs.

A 60-day jail sentence, with 30 days suspended, was also invoked by the judge, who placed Kuhn on probation for three years.

Sheriff Radcliff said he placed Kuhn under arrest last night when he was seen during an apparent attempt to steal a battery from a bulldozer belonging to Robert Rowland, Route 4.

Rowland reported the attempt to the sheriff.

2 Sentenced To State Pen

Two men were sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary today during a session of Pickaway County Common Pleas Court with Judge William Ammer presiding.

Francis Knece, Darbyville, was brought before the court for violating the terms of his probation imposed in 1963 for cutting with intent to wound. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for a period of 1-20 years.

James Donald Underwood, 28, W. Virginia, was sentenced for a period of 1-15 years for breaking and entering the Hill Implement Co. on June 14. He waived his rights to grand jury indictment and was tried on a bill of information.

Donald Lee Moore, Washington C. H., also appeared before the court for violating his probation granted on two counts of grand larceny in October 1964. Judge Ammer continued Moore's probation.

Reapportionment of Both Houses Sought in GOP Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislature, stymied in all attempts thus far to reach a solution to the reapportionment problem, has a new proposal dropped in among other long dormant.

Four House Republicans, headed by Speaker Roger Cloud, submitted the new plan before holiday adjournment, proposing reapportionment of the Senate as well as the House.

Legislature observers, however, don't give it much chance of going far.

Cloud, who was the chief framer of the Issue 3 reapportionment plan defeated in the May 4 election, admitted he does not have "all the Republicans on this one" but felt he should submit it "to show I'm advocating something."

Many Republicans in the House feel the reapportionment should be left to the federal court since Issue 3 was defeated. Apportionment was ordered under a U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing the Ohio formula for allocating seats in the House.

While the court order did not include reapportionment of the Senate, the new plan proposes electing two senators from each of the 24 congressional districts to make a 48-member Senate compared to the present 32. For the House, a population quota of 69,300 under the 1960 census would be required. This is the same as in Issue 3.

Counties with at least 80 percent of this would get a representative. Counties with less than a population quota would be combined with others to form districts but no county would be split into more than two parts.

At least the Senate reapportionment proposal is expected to form members in the upper house now elected by districts specified in the constitution.

Policemen Probe Entry at Home

City police yesterday afternoon investigated an entry at the William Goeller residence, 1040 Atwater Ave.

Goeller discovered the entry when he returned home to lunch. He said he had left the house at about 6:30 a. m.

Police said an undisclosed amount of money was taken from a chest of drawers. Entry was gained by breaking a section of storm door and a small glass on the regular entrance door.

Chief Robert Temple and Sgt. Turney Ross investigated.

mechanical failure after it took off during the attack on the Soc Trang strip, 100 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen said a total of 30 planes pounded the targets at Dien Bien Phu, about 185 miles west northwest of Hanoi. They said no anti-aircraft fire was encountered over the scene of the bitter 1954 fighting and no enemy planes were sighted.

All planes returned safely from the mission, almost on the Laotian border, they said.

The Viet Cong fired 20 to 25 mortar shells into the Soc Trang airfield, but U.S. helicopters there were hurriedly flown to another field. Damage was minor.

Another air strike today took 20 Navy Skyhawks and Crusaders 40 miles southeast of Hanoi, the closest yet to the North Vietnamese capital since air raids on the Communist North began Feb. 7, the spokesmen said. The raiders attacked the Nam Dinh oil storage tanks, described as one of the biggest petroleum tank areas in North Viet Nam.

Pilots reported flames from the storage tanks shot more than 200 feet into the air from all compounds and approximately eight large tanks were destroyed, the spokesmen said.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered, pilots reported, but no enemy planes were sighted and all planes returned safely to the carrier Oriskany, the spokesmen said.

Man Fined $200 On Charge of Theft Attempt

William Kuhn, 20, Route 1, Kingston, was charged with attempted theft today in Circleville Municipal Court by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

Kuhn entered a plea of innocent. He was found guilty by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb and fined $200 and costs.

A 60-day jail sentence, with 30 days suspended, was also invoked by the judge, who placed Kuhn on probation for three years.

Sheriff Radcliff said he placed Kuhn under arrest last night when he was seen during an apparent attempt to steal a battery from a bulldozer belonging to Robert Rowland, Route 4.

Rowland reported the attempt to the sheriff.

2 Sentenced To State Pen

Two men were sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary today during a session of Pickaway County Common Pleas Court with Judge William Ammer presiding.

Francis Knece, Darbyville, was brought before the court for violating the terms of his probation imposed in 1963 for cutting with intent to wound. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for a period of 1-20 years.

James Donald Underwood, 28, W. Virginia, was sentenced for a period of 1-15 years for breaking and entering the Hill Implement Co. on June 14. He waived his rights to grand jury indictment and was tried on a bill of information.

Donald Lee Moore, Washington, C. H., also appeared before the court for violating his probation granted on two counts of grand larceny in October 1964. Judge Ammer continued Moore's probation.

Reapportionment of Both Houses Sought in GOP Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislature, stymied in all attempts thus far to reach a solution to the apportionment problem, has a new proposal dropped in among other long dormant.

Four House Republicans, headed by Speaker Roger Cloud, submitted the new plan before holiday adjournment, proposing reapportionment of the Senate as well as the House.

Legislature observers, however, don't give it much chance of going far. Cloud, who was the chief framer of the Issue 3 apportionment plan defeated in the May 4 election, admitted he does not have "all the Republicans on this one" but felt he should submit it "to show I'm advocating something."

Many Republicans in the House feel the apportionment should be left to the federal court since Issue 3 was defeated. Apportionment was ordered under a U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing the Ohio formula for allocating seats in the House.

While the court order did not include apportionment of the Senate, the new plan proposes electing two senators from each of the 24 congressional districts to make a 48-member Senate compared to the present 32. For the House, a population quota of 69,300 under the 1960 census would be required. This is the same as in Issue 3.

Counties with at least 80 per cent of this would get a representative. Counties with less than a population quota would be combined with others to form districts but no county would be split into more than two parts.

At least the Senate reapportionment proposal is expected to form members in the upper house now elected by districts specified in the constitution.

Martin Benzing, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Benzing of Hamilton, spent 10 days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Freshour. His parents and brothers, Bruce, Jimmie and Glenn came for him Sunday and spent the day on the farm.

When Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sunderland returned from Huston Lake Park Saturday night, they brought their grandson, Keith Trueman home with them for a visit.

The Village Belles made a fine appearance Monday on two Columbus TV shows.

Dressed in pastel colored dresses and parasols, they publicized the Village Festival to be held July 29, 30 and 31. Proceeds will be used for a recreation park. The land has been acquired, but it needs to be landscaped and recreation facilities added.

The Village Belles are Becky Williams, Melissa Search, Sueann Knisley, Debbie Dearth, Debbie Spriggs and Vickie Seymour.

Accompanying the girls were Mrs. John Ralston, Mrs. Dwight Williams and Mrs. Richard Imnell Jr.

Mrs. Williams was a contestant on the TV program and won some money to add to the Park Fund.

Weekend guests from Friday to Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Davis and children were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fluge and daughters, Robin and Sharon from Waterville. Mr. Fluge was a highway patrolman when they lived here.

The Clarence Lyons family is vacationing in a cottage at Lake Hope. Janet, Kathie, Peter and Amy are with them. Rosemary is attending Summer School at Ohio State University.

Ronnie French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles French Jr. left Saturday for Indianola camp near Lancaster. All district officers of MYF in Ohio are to meet there for inspiration and instruction.

Attending Intermediate MYF camp this week at Lancaster Campground are Debbie Boor, Derek Boor, and Tom Davis from the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Dwight Williams, Mrs. Sam Cloud and Ann Stewart were at Ohio University Saturday to attend the final concert given by the High School pupils who were there for the music workshop. Becky Williams, who participated, accompanied them home.

Woman in Wheel Chair Is Hired as Teacher

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A 32-year-old woman confined to a wheel chair, who was unable to find a job despite having graduated with honors from Rhode Island College, has been hired as a full-time teacher in Warwick.

The college said Gail D. Holland will begin teaching five history classes in September at Veterans Memorial High School.

Miss Holland was crippled by arthritis when she was 18 months old.

of Sedgewick, Colo., left Tuesday to return home after spending two weeks visiting relatives here.

A carry-in dinner was held Sunday in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Large. Relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Dorah Morris and Miss Virginia Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Paxton and Serri and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright and Jeffrey, Julia and Johnny, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Large, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beavers and Chris and Mike, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Schneider and Bill and Dave Large. Other guests were Miss Jeanne Crowe and Miss Annalee Fellenstein.

Following rehearsal Friday for the wedding of Miss Crowe and Bill Large, a rehearsal dinner will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Large for the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Morris attended the picnic Saturday at Goldcliff for South - Central Electric personnel. Mr. Morris is a director of the firm.

According to his mother, Mrs. Paul Davis, her son, Brent C. Davis of the U. S. Navy has been promoted for efficiency and has been awarded a medal. His carrier, the USS Yorktown was cited for cleanliness and high morale during a cruise in the combat zone in Viet Nam. He is at Long Beach at present, but will return before long to Viet Nam.

Another son, Bernard M. Davis, is at Sawyer AFB Marguerite, Mich. Besides his work in electronics he is going to school three nights a week, studying college algebra and English.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Minshall returned last week after a two-week air plane trip to visit their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Garst and Emily and Betsy at Albuquerque, N. M. They were accompanied by Mrs. Minshall's sister, Mrs. Ethel Trail of Beckley, W. Va.

They enjoyed many interesting side trips including Carlsbad Cavern, El Paso, Tex., On Thursday, Mrs. Minshall drove her sister to her home and returned here on Sat.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beavers and Mrs. N. F. Bond were in Columbus Sunday afternoon to visit ill relatives — the year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beavers who is in the hospital, and Mrs. Thurman Beavers, who is in Doctors Hospital West.

Mrs. Harold Wright and children Jeff, Julie and John left the airport in Columbus Tuesday to fly to Bangor, Me., where they will be guests of Mrs. Wright's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moss.

Mrs. W. S. Rhoades, Mrs. Leslie Dearth, Mrs. Carl Hohenstein, Mrs. William Meadows and Mrs. Bert Jackson attended Eastern Star service Thursday evening at the Boyer Funeral Home in Waverly, for Mrs. Walter Martin. She had served as worthy matron of Waverly chapter and had attended their meeting on Monday night, and also worked on Tuesday. She died Tuesday of a heart attack.

Sales, Motor Tax Returns Show Increase

Sales Tax collections in Pickaway County as of June 26 were $318,589.82, according to a report from the office of John D. Herbert, state treasurer.

With only four days remaining for the fiscal year, tax collections showed a definite increase over the $291,977.81 collected last year for a like period.

For the two-week period ending June 26, collections were $11,238.07, compared to collections of $10,717.71 reported last year.

Motor vehicle tax collections also show an increase in the county.

A two-week collection of $12,077.30 brought the total for the year to $268,060.35. Last year $240,107.84 was collected by this time.

Polish Minister Loses Part of Authority

WARSAW (AP) — The Polish government is transferring control of the 42,500-man internal security and frontier forces from the interior ministry to the defense ministry.

Diplomatic sources viewed the move as a reduction in power and prestige for the internal affairs minister, Gen. Mieczyslaw Moczar, regarded as an ambitious hard-liner. They said it exemplified how the regime of Wladyslaw Gomulka maintains a balance among the factions of the ruling Communist party.

B&O Buys 420 Acres In Vandalia Area

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has acquired 420 acres of land at nearby Vandalia for possible future industrial developments. Purchase price was not disclosed.

The railroad would not specify for what purpose the land was acquired, but a spokesman said "Conceivably, other industries might come in there."

New South Ohio FBI Chief Is Bad News for Robbers

CINCINNATI (AP)—Southern Ohio's new FBI chief, William B. Soyars Jr., is bad news for bank robbers.

Soyars, 42, came here from Arizona, where just last week agents arrested a bank robber who was on the FBI's ten-most-wanted list of criminals.

"He was the third 'most wanted' picked up by us in the 15 months I was there," Soyars said.

Soyars' new territory of 42 Ohio counties is quite different than the wide-open spaces of Arizona, where agents sometimes use horses and togas, a motor scooter-type vehicle with wide balloon tires that can operate on the desert.

"I can't foresee our using a horse or a toga in this area," Soyars said in an interview Thursday on his first day on the job here.

Soyars pointed out that his new district has a population of seven million. By contrast, the Phoenix Division covers all of Arizona, an area eight times as large, but with five million less in population.

The new agent-in-charge said there are more than 200 on the FBI payroll in Southern Ohio but declined to say how many are agents. "We don't like our enemies to know our strength," he said.

Soyars succeeds Ed D. Mason who retired to join the public relations department of a Columbus newspaper.

A graduate of the University of North Carolina, in his home state, Soyars has been with the FBI 18 years, 10 of them at headquarters in Washington. Besides Phoenix, he has served in Chicago and Richmond, Va.

Asked why he joined the FBI, Soyars said, "I was looking for an organization that has some sort of esprit de corps, and the respect of a vast majority of the American people. The FBI was about the only one I could point to, other than the Marine Corps, which I had just left."

Anti-Castro Arms Cache Is Grabbed

NEW YORK (AP)—Police reported Thursday the seizure of mortars, machine guns, pistols and ammunition at a sporting goods shop that allegedly had been shipping armaments to an anti-Castro group inside Cuba.

Three men—one listed as a Cuban—were arrested.

Detective Edward Lehane, head of a six-man detail that raided the shop, said armaments had been sent to South America for reshipment to Cuba. The South American destination was not made public.

The three men were booked at a police station on charges of violation of state antiweapons law and of conspiracy to sell weapons illegally.

Dressed in pastel colored dresses and parasols, they publicized the Village Festival to be held July 29, 30 and 31. Proceeds will be used for a recreation park. The land has been acquired, but it needs to be landscaped and recreation facilities added.

The Village Belles are Becky Williams, Melissa Search, Sueann Knisley, Debbie Dearth, Debbie Spriggs and Vickie Seymour.

Accompanying the girls were Mrs. John Ralston, Mrs. Dwight Williams and Mrs. Richard Imnell Jr.

Mrs. Williams was a contestant on the TV program and won some money to add to the Park Fund.

Weekend guests from Friday to Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Davis and children were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fluge and daughters, Robin and Sharon from Waterville. Mr. Fluge was a highway patrolman when they lived here.

The Clarence Lyons family is vacationing in a cottage at Lake Hope. Janet, Kathie, Peter and Amy are with them. Rosemary is attending Summer School at Ohio State University.

Ronnie French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles French Jr. left Saturday for Indianola camp near Lancaster. All district officers of MYF in Ohio are to meet there for inspiration and instruction.

Attending Intermediate MYF camp this week at Lancaster Campground are Debbie Boor, Derek Boor, and Tom Davis from the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Dwight Williams, Mrs. Sam Cloud and Ann Stewart were at Ohio University Saturday to attend the final concert given by the High School pupils who were there for the music workshop. Becky Williams, who participated, accompanied them home.

Woman in Wheel Chair Is Hired as Teacher

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A 32-year-old woman confined to a wheel chair, who was unable to find a job despite having graduated with honors from Rhode Island College, has been hired as a full-time teacher in Warwick.

The college said Gail D. Holland will begin teaching five history classes in September at Veterans Memorial High School. Miss Holland was crippled by arthritis when she was 18 months old.

of Sedgewick, Colo., left Tuesday to return home after spending two weeks visiting relatives here.

A carry-in dinner was held Sunday in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Large. Relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Dorah Morris and Miss Virginia Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Paxton and Serri and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright and Jeffrey, Julia and Johnny, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Large, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beavers and Chris and Mike, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Schneider and Bill and Dave Large. Other guests were Miss Jeanne Crowe and Miss Annalee Fellenstein.

Following rehearsal Friday for the wedding of Miss Crowe and Bill Large, a rehearsal dinner will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Large for the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Morris attended the picnic Saturday at Goldcliff for South - Central Electric personnel. Mr. Morris is a director of the firm.

According to his mother, Mrs. Paul Davis, her son, Brent C. Davis of the U. S. Navy has been promoted for efficiency and has been awarded a medal. His carrier, the USS Yorktown was cited for cleanliness and high morale during a cruise in the combat zone in Viet Nam. He is at Long Beach at present, but will return before long to Viet Nam.

Another son, Bernard M. Davis, is at Sawyer AFB Marguette, Mich. Besides his work in electronics he is going to school three nights a week, studying college algebra and English.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Minshall returned last week after a two-week air plane trip to visit their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Garst and Emily and Betsy at Albuquerque, N. M. They were accompanied by Mrs. Minshall's sister, Mrs. Ethel Trail of Beckley, W. Va.

They enjoyed many interesting side trips including Carlsbad Cavern, El Paso, Tex., On Thursday, Mrs. Minshall drove her sister to her home and returned here on Sat.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beavers and Mrs. N. F. Bond were in Columbus Sunday afternoon to visit ill relatives — the year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beavers who is in the hospital, and Mrs. Thurman Beavers, who is in Doctors Hospital West.

Mrs. Harold Wright and children Jeff, Julie and John left the airport in Columbus Tuesday to fly to Bangor, Me., where they will be guests of Mrs. Wright's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moss.

Mrs. W. S. Rhoades, Mrs. Leslie Dearth, Mrs. Carl Hohenstein, Mrs. William Meadows and Mrs. Bert Jackson attended Eastern Star service Thursday evening at the Boyer Funeral Home in Waverly, for Mrs. Walter Martin. She had served as worthy matron of Waverly chapter and had attended their meeting on Monday night, and also worked on Tuesday. She died Tuesday of a heart attack.

Sales, Motor Tax Returns Show Increase

Sales Tax collections in Pickaway County as of June 26 were $318,589.82, according to a report from the office of John D. Herbert, state treasurer.

With only four days remaining for the fiscal year, tax collections showed a definite increase over the $291,977.81 collected last year for a like period.

For the two-week period ending June 26, collections were $11,238.07, compared to collections of $10,717.71 reported last year.

Motor vehicle tax collections also show an increase in the county.

A two-week collection of $12,077.30 brought the total for the year to $268,060.35. Last year $240,107.84 was collected by this time.

Polish Minister Loses Part of Authority

WARSAW (AP) — The Polish government is transferring control of the 42,500-man internal security and frontier forces from the interior ministry to the defense ministry.

Diplomatic sources viewed the move as a reduction in power and prestige for the internal affairs minister, Gen. Mieczyslaw Moczar, regarded as an ambitious hard-liner. They said it exemplified how the regime of Wladyslaw Gomulka maintains a balance among the factions of the ruling Communist party.

B&O Buys 420 Acres In Vandalia Area

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has acquired 420 acres of land at nearby Vandalia for possible future industrial developments. Purchase price was not disclosed.

The railroad would not specify for what purpose the land was acquired, but a spokesman said "Conceivably, other industries might come in there."

New South Ohio FBI Chief Is Bad News for Robbers

CINCINNATI (AP)—Southern Ohio's new FBI chief, William B. Soyars Jr., is bad news for bank robbers.

Soyars, 42, came here from Arizona, where just last week agents arrested a bank robber who was on the FBI's ten-most-wanted list of criminals.

"He was the third 'most wanted' picked up by us in the 15 months I was there," Soyars said.

Soyars' new territory of 42 Ohio counties is quite different than the wide-open spaces of Arizona, where agents sometimes use horses and togas, a motor scooter-type vehicle with wide balloon tires that can operate on the desert.

"I can't foresee our using a horse or a toga in this area," Soyars said in an interview Thursday on his first day on the job here.

Soyars pointed out that his new district has a population of seven million. By contrast, the Phoenix Division covers all of Arizona, an area eight times as large, but with five million less in population.

The new agent-in-charge said there are more than 200 on the FBI payroll in Southern Ohio but declined to say how many are agents. "We don't like our enemies to know our strength," he said.

Soyars succeeds Ed D. Mason who retired to join the public relations department of a Columbus newspaper.

A graduate of the University of North Carolina, in his home state, Soyars has been with the FBI 18 years, 10 of them at headquarters in Washington. Besides Phoenix, he has served in Chicago and Richmond, Va.

Asked why he joined the FBI, Soyars said, "I was looking for an organization that has some sort of esprit de corps, and the respect of a vast majority of the American people. The FBI was about the only one I could point to, other than the Marine Corps, which I had just left."

Anti-Castro Arms Cache Is Grabbed

NEW YORK (AP)—Police reported Thursday the seizure of mortars, machine guns, pistols and ammunition at a sporting goods shop that allegedly had been shipping armaments to an anti-Castro group inside Cuba.

Three men—one listed as a Cuban—were arrested. Detective Edward Lehane, head of a six-man detail that raided the shop, said armaments had been sent to South America for shipment to Cuba. The South American destination was not made public.

The three men were booked at a police station on charges of violation of state antiweapons law and of conspiracy to sell weapons illegally.

Glorious July Fourth

To Americans today the Fourth of July should be an occasion for rededication to the spirit that created this nation. Whether it is that is open to some question. Certainly it is not easy to strike so deep a note in a nation of almost 200 million people with any celebration.

Who would say that this holiday, formerly the favorite national holiday of the American people, has come close to it in recent years?

The attitude of the American people was different in former years — and the difference is reflected in the casual manner in which the day is referred to compared to the furious forensics of earlier times. The most common appellation is "The Fourth of July." Occasionally it is referred to as "Independence Day." But in an earlier generation, Americans who were not afraid to flaunt their love of country and their pride in the rising young Republic, laced their name for it with rapture. For them it was "The Glorious Fourth."

Why glorious? A generation that rarely speaks of glory must ask first of all what the founders of the United States meant by the word. The answer is clear: The Fourth of July was sacred to the freedom won with the blood of patriots in the War of the Revolution. It stood for the steady wisdom of statesmen, the unbounded courage of soldiers, the endless sacrifices of plain men and women. It stood for the triumph of the ideals set forth in ringing terms in the Declaration of Independence.

Americans still hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are born free and equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and that to insure these rights governments were instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. . . . But we have lost something of the almost ecstatic faith that was once American.

That is a good thing for Americans to think about on Fourth of July, 1965. The passionate conviction of the dignity of man and his right to liberty is still alive. If Americans hold true to that faith and the cause of freedom this, too, will be a Glorious Fourth.

What Else Is New?

A survey of the mores and habits of teenagers in British Columbia has come up with the information that boys are surrendering many of their freedoms to their girl friends, even before marriage.

The researchers were surprised and alarmed to find the girls were telling the boys what to wear and demanding some control over their spending money. So what else is new?

Many post-teenagers can remember slicking down their hair and shaving the fuzz from their upper lips at a girl's behest. As for spending money, few teenagers in the depression had any.

The researchers should watch their blood pressure. There is nothing to be alarmed about in this boy-to-girl freedom surrender. It has been going on for a long time and will continue as long as there are boys and girls. And it is wonderful pre-marital training for the boys.

No Diplomatic Softness

By John Chamberlain

Ominously, the new Foreign Minister of East Germany, Otto Winzer, "suggests" that the United States and the other occupation powers turn over the control of air traffic in and out of West Berlin to the East German Communists. This was the point of contention that so heated up the Cold War when Khrushchev thought he could bluff President Kennedy out of standing on U. S. treaty rights on the West Berlin occupancy.

It so happens that, at the very moment of Otto Winzer's sinister "suggestion," a probing study called "Berlin, 1945-1962: A Chronology of Communist Pressure on a Western Outpost" is being circulated at the Pentagon and in other interested Washington quarters. For fifty-six packed pages the mimeographed study sticks primarily to a dead-pan recital of events and diplomatic representations extending from the time of the Truman - Stalin exchanges on the concept of "providing free Western road, rail, and air access to Berlin" to the days of the Khrushchev - Kennedy confrontation over Cuba. Then, in a conclusion consisting of a single paragraph, the study turns into a pregnant editorial:

"Looking back, one can hardly avoid the conclusion that Khrushchev called off the Berlin offensive as soon as the Cuba confrontation had made it unmistakably clear that, in the end, the U. S. was willing to fight. Which would mean, conversely, that from November 1958 to October 1962, he only pressed the Berlin issue as ruthlessly as he did because he was not convinced that the U. S. was ready to set force against force. It is also entirely conceivable that he actually did embark on his Cuban adventure precisely because his experience with the U. S. during the years of crisis over Berlin had led him to believe that the U. S. reaction would be less forceful than it turned out to be."

The study has a distinct bearing on the present confrontations of the U. S. in Vietnam and in the Dominican Republic. For it demonstrates that Communists have invariably taken "flexibility" to be an indication of weakness and irresolution. Conversely, they have always respected a show of firmness. It was only after General Lucius Clay's adamant use of the airlift on the occasion of the Soviet blockade of West Berlin in 1948 and 1949 that the Communists finally retreated. Ten years later Khrushchev tried his own probing action, serving an ultimatum on the western powers that they must get out of Berlin. The diplomatic huffing and puffing of the Communists grew bolder until U. S. Undersecretary of State Dillon finally made a really tough warning speech; whereupon Khrushchev used the U-2 affair as an excuse to break up the Paris Summit Conference which he had hoped might be the scene of a great Soviet victory.

Subsequently Khrushchev was alternately bellicose and yielding with President Kennedy, depending on Kennedy's attitudes. The fiasco of the Bay of Pigs and the advance of the Communist Pathet Lao in Laos led Khrushchev to think for a time that Kennedy might be a really soft touch. It was just one day after the Laos armistice that Khrushchev advised the U. S. Embassy in Moscow that he would like to meet with Kennedy. Then, at the Vienna conference between the two heads of state, Khrushchev renewed his old demand of 1958 that the U. S. and its Allies remove their troops from West Berlin.

Kennedy refused to surrender on the ultimate point, but he tried all sorts of conciliatory gestures designed to bring the Soviets to the conference table to remove lesser "irritants" (his own phrase). All he got for waving the olive branch was the Berlin Wall and the Soviet decision to test our patience in Cuba.

It was the strong reaction of the U. S. to the Soviet shipment of atomic missiles to Cuba that caused Khrushchev to turn relatively peaceable — and the Berlin front has been relatively quiet ever since. But does the recent threat to the air corridors, voiced by the new East German Foreign Minister, mean that the Russians, like the Chinese Communists, think Lyndon Johnson can be bluffed into a conciliatory surrender where Truman, Eisenhower, and Kennedy were not? Well, it's hardly likely that LBJ will be bluffed if he reads this chronicle of "Berlin, 1945-62" that is being circulated in his own departments of War and State.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN THE LONG-AGO days when the Dodgers still played their own brand of baseball in Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, there was one faithful fan who stood outside the park for hours before the gates opened, game after game, only to sit deliberately behind a big post after he had gained admittance. "Why?" asked a baffled usher finally. The fan explained calmly, "I loathe baseball!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

How do stones form in the gall bladder? The physician views the symptoms in conjunction with the age, sex, weight and general condition of the patient.

Bile consists of a mixture of pigments and chemicals. They sometimes combine with calcium to form gall bladder stones. These vary in size and number and sometimes never cause symptoms.

Others interfere with the smooth flow of bile and produce inflammation of the sensitive lining of the gall bladder. This weakens the resistance of the gall bladder to infections by bacteria.

Is surgery the only cure for gall bladder stones and gall bladder disease? Surgery is never the only and immediate treatment for gall bladder disease. Strict limitation of fats in the diet, antibiotics for infections, and attempts to increase the flow of bile by medicine sometimes keep gall bladder disease in control.

Can gall bladder disease cause jaundice? The yellowish discoloration of the skin and the whites of the eyes can be caused by an obstruction to the flow of bile from the gall bladder to the intestine. The bile pigments normally excreted in the stool, become dammed back into the blood stream with obstructive disease.

What are the symptoms of gall bladder disease? Symptoms are often very vague and may be confusing to the "self diagnostician." Painful spasms of the upper abdomen with sharp pain that shoots to the back of the shoulder.

Where is the gall bladder? How does it function? The gall bladder is a small, pear-shaped sac which lies on the under surface of the liver. The liver occupies the area below the diaphragm on the upper right side of the abdomen. The liver produces about one pint of golden yellow bile a day. The healthy gall bladder stores some of the bile and sends it through a tiny tube through the duodenum or upper small intestine. The rest of the bile is sent directly from the liver to the intestine.

When food, especially fatty food, is eaten, the flow of bile into the intestine increases, in order to aid in the complicated process of digestion.

Viet Catholic Hospital Is Busy

By Hal Boyle

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — They come on infirm feet. They come on pallets laid across shoulder poles borne by friends or relatives. They come in fishnet hammocks strung on the back of a small, three-wheeled ambulance.

Each day at least a hundred young or old Vietnamese poor come for treatment at the outclinic of the Holy Family Hospital here. On its staff of 11 Catholic sisters are five from America, the only ones in South Viet Nam.

The two-floor, 44-bed hospital is built around a compound shaded by palm trees and abounding in colorful tropical flowers. It is a haven of comfort and hope for thousands of miserable refugees who have fled into the city to escape the Viet Cong.

"This area always has been a Viet Cong stronghold," said the mother superior, Sister Karen Gossman, 42, of Louisville, Ky. "In 1954 before many of them went North, they burned and looted the entire city."

Sister Karen, a robust, kindly woman with a sense of humor that beams through her spectacles, founded the hospital in 1961. She worked as a nurse on a hospital ship in the Pacific during World War II before joining the order of Catholic medical missions sisters. The order has hospitals in 35 countries.

Sister Karen told of her work as she walked through the clinic, pausing to pat a scrawny, fretful, hollow-eyed child, or cheer a worried mother.

"Two of the sisters are doctors, and they see every patient," she said. "It is the suffering of the children that affects us most, although all the adults are victims of the war in one way or the other. They have such a hopeless feeling."

"In addition to the everyday types of illness, there's been a lot of cholera, measles, plague and typhoid. In fact they are epidemic here, but the government doesn't like to admit it."

The sisters work from 7 to 10 years before getting home leave. Sister Karen spent eight years in Pakistan before coming here.

An attempt is made to make the hospital self-supporting.

Those of the poor who can afford it pay five piasters — about seven cents — a visit to the clinic. Ward care is 10 piasters daily. But the hospital distributes free nearly $700 worth of medicine each month. It is helped by Catholic relief agencies.

Sister Karen said that neither she nor the other sisters worry about their fate if the enemy should seize the city, which lies on the central coastal lowlands between Saigon and Da Nang.

"We've given our life to God, and He has brought us here," she said. "We feel that what happens to us is His business not ours."

And then, as if afraid she had spoken too seriously, Sister Karen smiled sweetly — and made the worst pun I've heard in Viet Nam.

"You know what we call this country?" she asked, chuckling. "We call it the coup-coup country — because it has so many political coups."

The other American sisters at the hospital are Brenda Burke, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Virginia Sayers, Toledo, Ohio; Rosalie Pollini, Dallas, Tex., and Sheila Marie McGuinnis, Troy, N.Y.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — July should be livelier this time than customary for the usually take-it-easy month. Factories will be busier. Fewer will be closing down for long vacations. In slacker years these often are prolonged for maintenance, repair and other reasons.

A lot of the bustle in the coming month will be due to concern over what may happen in the steel labor negotiations. But a lot will be due to the generally faster economic pace this year than last.

The business upswing is now in its 53rd month, with slow-downs more talked about than apparent as yet.

The stock market provided the most excitement in June. But the long downturn in prices appears to have changed few business plans.

Steel mills report orders on hand will keep them turning out metal at a faster clip than previous July.

Customers will be stockpiling some of it as a hedge against the threat of a steel strike Sept. 1. But manufacturers will be using up a lot of the steel to meet their own big backlog of orders.

Many expect the steel labor situation to jell this month. Labor's demands should become clear — and also, how far management will go in meeting them. At stake: A strike, an expensive settlement that could mean price increases, or a settlement within the gains in productivity so that the price line can be held.

Concern over the steel affecting some of the auto industry's plans. One result is to make for a lively July. Shutdowns for model changeovers may come a bit later this year, while the industry piles up a stock of cars in dealers' hands to tide them over in case a steel strike hampers production in the early fall.

Many business firms report confidence that profits will continue to rise during July and the rest of the third quarter. Corporate earnings hit a record pace in the first three months of the year. The total apparently rose again in the last three months, although probably at a slower rate.

Unless unexpected events in July deal blows to business and consumer confidence, better than seasonal activity should keep the comparative profit figures on the pleasant side.

One activity that seems sure to have a fresh record in the bag is vacation and travel spending.

Americans are taking longer vacations, longer trips, and spending more on their way and after they get there. Benefitting transportation companies, gas stations, motels, sellers of recreation gear. The last can range all the way from swimming suits to cabin cruisers, mountain climbing outfits to seashore cottages.

A lot of other places besides Wall Street are going to be busier than ever this July.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seward and family were spending two weeks at their cabin at Buckeye Lake.

A car stolen in Columbus in June was recovered in Pickaway County by Deputy Sheriff Homer Adams.

James R. Brown, Sunset Drive, was named principal of Jackson Twp. High School.

TEN YEARS AGO

Thanks to a downpour of more than an inch and one-half of rainfall the latter part of June local precipitation for the month was nearly one-half inch above normal.

Pickaway County's only suspected polio case so far this year received a negative diagnosis.

Mrs. Josephine Jones and children, Seyfert Ave., left for a vacation in Detroit, Mich.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Circleville had rain 17 days during the month of June, according to a report from Miss Abbe Mills Clarke of the weather bureau.

Twelve railroad cars loaded with cattle, the largest shipment ever made by the Pickaway County Livestock Association, were sent to New York.

The Class of 1900 of Everts High School held a reunion at The Wardell Party Home.

By John Chamberlain

Ominously, the new Foreign Minister of East Germany, Otto Winzer, "suggests" that the United States and the other occupation powers turn over the control of air traffic in and out of West Berlin to the East German Communists. This was the point of contention that so heated up the Cold War when Khrushchev thought he could bluff President Kennedy out of standing on U. S. treaty rights on the West Berlin occupancy.

It so happens that, at the very moment of Otto Winzer's sinister "suggestion," a probing study called "Berlin, 1945-1962: A Chronology of Communist Pressure on a Western Outpost" is being circulated at the Pentagon and in other interested Washington quarters. For fifty-six packed pages the mimeographed study sticks primarily to a dead-pan recital of events and diplomatic representations extending from the time of the Truman - Stalin exchanges on the concept of "providing free Western road, rail, and air access to Berlin" to the days of the Khrushchev - Kennedy confrontation over Cuba. Then, in a conclusion consisting of a single paragraph, the study turns into a pregnant editorial:

"Looking back, one can hardly avoid the conclusion that Khrushchev called off the Berlin offensive as soon as the Cuba confrontation had made it unmistakably clear that, in the end, the U. S. was willing to fight. Which would mean, conversely, that from November 1958 to October 1962, he only pressed the Berlin issue as ruthlessly as he did because he was not convinced that the U. S. was ready to set force against force. It is also entirely conceivable that he actually did embark on his Cuban adventure precisely because his experience with the U. S. during the years of crisis over Berlin had led him to believe that the U. S. reaction would be less forceful than it turned out to be."

The study has a distinct bearing on the present confrontations of the U. S. in Vietnam and in the Dominican Republic. For it demonstrates that Communists have invariably taken "flexibility" to be an indication of weakness and irresolution. Conversely, they have always respected a show of firmness. It was only after General Lucius Clay's adamant use of the airlift on the occasion of the Soviet blockade of West Berlin in 1948 and 1949 that the Communists finally retreated. Ten years later Khrushchev tried his own probing action, serving an ultimatum on the western powers that they must get out of Berlin. The diplomatic huffing and puffing of the Communists grew bolder until U. S. Undersecretary of State Dillon finally made a really tough warning speech; whereupon Khrushchev used the U-2 affair as an excuse to break up the Paris Summit Conference which he had hoped might be the scene of a great Soviet victory.

Subsequently Khrushchev was alternately bellicose and yielding with President Kennedy, depending on Kennedy's attitudes. The fiasco of the Bay of Pigs and the advance of the Communist Pathet Lao in Laos led Khrushchev to think for a time that Kennedy might be a really soft touch. It was just one day after the Laos armistice that Khrushchev advised the U. S. Embassy in Moscow that he would like to meet with Kennedy. Then, at the Vienna conference between the two heads of state, Khrushchev renewed his old demand of 1958 that the U. S. and its Allies remove their troops from West Berlin. Kennedy refused to surrender on the ultimate point, but he tried all sorts of conciliatory gestures designed to bring the Soviets to the conference table to remove lesser "irritants" (his own phrase). All he got for waving the olive branch was the Berlin Wall and the Soviet decision to test our patience in Cuba.

It was the strong reaction of the U. S. to the Soviet shipment of atomic missiles to Cuba that caused Khrushchev to turn relatively peaceable — and the Berlin front has been relatively quiet ever since. But does the recent threat to the air corridors, voiced by the new East German Foreign Minister, mean that the Russians, like the Chinese Communists, think Lyndon Johnson can be bluffed into a conciliatory surrender where Truman, Eisenhower, and Kennedy were not? Well, it's hardly likely that LBJ will be bluffed if he reads this chronicle of "Berlin, 1945-62" that is being circulated in his own departments of War and State.

Try and Stop Me

IN THE LONG-AGO days when the Dodgers still played their own brand of baseball in Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, there was one faithful fan who stood outside the park for hours before the gates opened, game after game, only to sit deliberately behind a big post after he had gained admittance. "Why?" asked a baffled usher finally. The fan explained calmly, "I loathe baseball!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

How do stones form in the gall bladder?

Bile consists of a mixture of pigments and chemicals. They sometimes combine with calcium to form gall bladder stones. These vary in size and number and sometimes never cause symptoms.

Others interfere with the smooth flow of bile and produce inflammation of the sensitive lining of the gall bladder. This weakens the resistance of the gall bladder to infections by bacteria.

Is surgery the only cure for gall bladder stones and gall bladder disease?

Surgery is never the only and immediate treatment for gall bladder disease. Strict limitation of fats in the diet, antibiotics for infections, and attempts to increase the flow of bile by medicine sometimes keep gall bladder disease in control.

Can gall bladder disease cause jaundice?

The yellowish discoloration of the skin and the whites of the eyes can be caused by an obstruction to the flow of bile from the gall bladder to the intestine. The bile pigments normally excreted in the stool, become dammed back into the blood stream with obstructive disease.

What are the symptoms of gall bladder disease?

Symptoms are often very vague and may be confusing to the "self diagnostician." Painful spasms of the upper abdomen with sharp pain that shoots to the back of the shoulder ers may suggest gall bladder colic.

The physician views the symptoms in conjunction with the age, sex, weight and general condition of the patient.

X-rays of the gall bladder taken with special dyes, can outline the shape and the contents of the gall bladder with remarkable accuracy. This information plus the symptoms may indicate that the gall bladder is the offender.

When surgery is recommended by the physician and the surgeon it should not be unnecessarily delayed.

Modern surgery, and today's excellent anesthesia make the gall bladder operation exceedingly safe.

Surgery is never pleasant to anticipate. But the fears of surgery should not delay a necessary operation and thus convert a simple procedure into a complicated one.

Where is the gall bladder? How does it function?

The gall bladder is a small, pear-shaped sac which lies on the under surface of the liver. The liver occupies the area below the diaphragm on the upper right side of the abdomen.

The liver produces about one pint of golden yellow bile a day. The healthy gall bladder stores some of the bile and sends it through a tiny tube through the duodenum or upper small intestine. The rest of the bile is sent directly from the liver to the intestine.

When food, especially fatty food, is eaten, the flow of bile into the intestine increases, in order to aid in the complicated process of digestion.

Viet Catholic Hospital Is Busy

By Hal Boyle

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — They come on infirm feet. They come on pallets laid across shoulder poles borne by friends or relatives. They come in fishnet hammocks strung on the back of a small, three-wheeled ambulance.

Each day at least a hundred young or old Vietnamese poor come for treatment at the outclinic of the Holy Family Hospital here. On its staff of 11 Catholic sisters are five from America, the only ones in South Viet Nam.

The two-floor, 44-bed hospital is built around a compound shaded by palm trees and abounding in colorful tropical flowers. It is a haven of comfort and hope for thousands of miserable refugees who have fled into the city to escape the Viet Cong.

"This area always has been a Viet Cong stronghold," said the mother superior, Sister Karen Gossman, 42, of Louisville, Ky. "In 1954 before many of them went North, they burned and looted the entire city."

Sister Karen, a robust, kindly woman with a sense of humor that beams through her spectacles, founded the hospital in 1961. She worked as a nurse on a hospital ship in the Pacific during World War II before joining the order of Catholic medical missions sisters. The order has hospitals in 35 countries.

Sister Karen told of her work as she walked through the clinic, pausing to pat a scrawny, fretful, hollow-eyed child, or cheer a worried mother.

"Two of the sisters are doctors, and they see every patient," she said. "It is the suffering of the children that affects us most, although all the adults are victims of the war in one way or the other. They have such a hopeless feeling."

"In addition to the everyday types of illness, there's been a lot of cholera, measles, plague and typhoid. In fact they are epidemic here, but the government doesn't like to admit it."

The sisters work from 7 to 10 years before getting home leave. Sister Karen spent eight years in Pakistan before coming here.

An attempt is made to make the hospital self-supporting.

Those of the poor who can afford to pay five piasters — about seven cents — a visit to the clinic. Ward care is 10 piasters daily. But the hospital distributes free nearly $700 worth of medicine each month. It is helped by Catholic relief agencies.

Sister Karen said that neither she nor the other sisters worry about their fate if the enemy should seize the city, which lies on the central coastal lowlands between Saigon and Da Nang.

"We've given our life to God, and He has brought us here," she said. "We feel that what happens to us is His business not ours."

And then, as if afraid she had spoken too seriously, Sister Karen smiled sweetly — and made the worst pun I've heard in Viet Nam.

"You know what we call this country?" she asked, chuckling. "We call it the coup-coup country — because it has so many political coups."

The other American sisters at the hospital are Brenda Burke, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Virginia Sayers, Toledo, Ohio; Rosalie Pollniz, Dallas, Tex., and Sheila Marie McGuinnis, Troy, N.Y.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — July should be livelier this time than customary for the usually take-it-easy month. Factories will be busier. Fewer will be closing down for long vacations. In slacker years these often are prolonged for maintenance, repair and other reasons.

A lot of the bustle in the coming month will be due to concern over what may happen in the steel labor negotiations. But a lot will be due to the generally faster economic pace this year than last.

The business upswing is now in its 53rd month, with slow-downs more talked about than apparent as yet.

The stock market provided the most excitement in June. But the long downturn in prices appears to have changed few business plans.

Steel mills report orders on hand will keep them turning out metal at a faster clip than previous Julys.

Customers will be stockpiling some of it as a hedge against the threat of a steel strike Sept. 1. But manufacturers will be using up a lot of the steel to meet their own big backlog of orders.

Many expect the steel labor situation to jell this month. Labor's demands should become clear — and also, how far management will go in meeting them. At stake: A strike, an expensive settlement that could mean price increases, or a settlement within the gains in productivity so that the price line can be held.

Concern over the steel situation is reported to be affecting some of the auto industry's plans. One result is to make for a lively July. Shutdowns for model changeovers may come a bit later this year, while the industry piles up a stock of cars in dealers' hands to tide them over in case a steel strike hampered production in the early fall.

Many business firms report confidence that profits will continue to rise during July and the rest of the third quarter. Corporate earnings hit a record pace in the first three months of the year. The total apparently rose again in the last three months, although probably at a slower rate.

Unless unexpected events in July deal blows to business and consumer confidence, better than seasonal activity should keep the comparative profit figures on the pleasant side.

One activity that seems sure to have a fresh record in the bag is vacation and travel spending.

Americans are taking longer vacations, longer trips, and spending more on their way and after they get there. Benefiting transportation companies, gas stations, motels, sellers of recreation gear. The last can range all the way from swimming suits to cabin cruisers, mountain climbing outfits to seashore cottages.

A lot of other places besides Wall Street are going to be busier than ever this July.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

Thanks to a downpour of more than an inch and one-half of rainfall the latter part of June local precipitation for the month was nearly one-half inch above normal.

Pickaway County's only suspected polio case so far this year received a negative diagnosis.

Mrs. Josephine Jones and children, Seyfert Ave., left for a vacation in Detroit, Mich.

A-Labs Busy with Nonweapon Experiments

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — During World War II years when the first atomic bombs were being secretly made in this mountain hideaway, one of the rumors in distant towns concerning what the scientists were up to was this:

"They're making windshield wipers for submarines."

Today, the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory of the Atomic Energy Commission makes no secret of the fact that it, and another laboratory at Livermore, are the places where all the nation's bombs, missiles and other nuclear arms are created.

Even so, some pretty unusual, nonweapon activities are going on at both laboratories.

These include:

1. The quest to harness the fearsome hydrogen bomb reaction for peacetime electricity production — a quest which was pioneered at Los Alamos in a machine dubbed the "perapsatron."

2. The "Rover Project" — The dream of using nuclear reactors to propel spacecraft to distant planets, perhaps at speeds approaching the velocity of light, instead of using conventional chemical boosters.

3. "Plowshare" — The program aimed at using nuclear explosives for peacetime uses in a range from manufacturing new elements and increasing the flow of natural gas deep underground to carving out canals and harbors on the earth's surface.

The two men who are most immediately responsible for keeping America's nuclear arsenal stocked with the very best in the weapons field are Dr. Norris E. Bradbury, director of the Los Alamos lab, and Dr. John Foster, director at Livermore, which is a branch of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory of the University of California at Berkeley.

Bradbury was one of the developers of the original A-bombs in those hush-hush days when the Army took over an exclusive boys ranch school and built a secret city around it.

Bradbury says weapons still constitute at least 50 per cent of the lab's effort, and that "if the chips were down" — and war was on or imminent — his entire staff of 7,000 would be working full blast on the exclusive effort of producing even more powerful, efficient and sophisticated weapons.

From the start of discussions leading up to the signing of the limited nuclear test ban treaty — which outlaws all but underground testing — Bradbury was convinced that such a move offered the "possibility of taking the first real, even if small, step in the direction of the prevention of a nuclear war."

And he says "We've learned to test underground successfully."

The Atomic Energy Commission, in formal reports, has said that "significant progress" has been made in both offensive and defensive nuclear capability during the period of underground testing.

Foster was at first vigorously opposed to calling off atmospheric nuclear tests.

He argued, in testimony before congressional committees, that the elimination of atmospheric tests would disadvantage the United States more than Russia.

He says his fears have been eased somewhat by the relatively rapid pace of America's underground testing and by what he terms clear evidence that the laboratories have continued to maintain top people and vigorous programs.

Foster also says that the treaty — which stipulates that radioactivity from underground tests be kept within the territorial limits of the testing country — is "preventing us from proceeding as vigorously as we otherwise might" with canal-digging and kindred potential applications of the Plowshare program.

"We're doing our best," he said, "to 'clean up' nuclear explosives so that the radioactivity will be lessened."

"But, as for exploding, say, 100 kilotons — the equivalent of 100,000 tons of TNT — to produce craters for something like the Panama Canal, we can't do this today without violating the treaty — at least as it's being interpreted by the United States."

However, Foster and other AEC "plowshare" experts make clear that even under strictest interpretation of the treaty, many valuable lessons can be learned from cratering experiments of more modest explosive yields.

They also point out that deep-underground Plowshare tests — the ones involving no cratering at all — offer rich potential for yielding other peacetime benefits for man. These would include such possibilities as releasing oil from shale deposits difficult to tap by conventional techniques.

Cigarette Warning Bill Given Nod

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional compromise was reached Thursday on legislation to require warnings against cigarette smoking.

Under it all cigarette packages and cartons must carry this label in a conspicuous position: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous To Your Health."

The compromise bars the Federal Trade Commission from requiring any warning in advertising earlier than July 1, 1969. Congress may take another look at the matter before that date.

A Senate - House committee worked out the compromise from differing bills passed by the two branches of Congress. The committee's decisions are subject to ratification by the Senate and House.

The principal differences were as to advertising and as to the position of the warning on cigarette packages.

The Senate bill would have blocked any requirement for a warning in advertising before 1968. The House bill would have blocked it permanently.

The Senate bill would have required that the warning label on packages and cartons of cigarettes be on the front. The House ordered it on the side.

The compromise says only that the warning must be in a conspicuous place.

Lincoln Plastics Picnic Attended by 500 Persons

Approximately 500 persons were on hand for the annual Lincoln Molded Plastics Club picnic at Ted Lewis Park.

Robert VanGundy, club president, said that during the past eight years attendance at the picnic has doubled. He attributed the success to extra efforts by officers, directors and club members.

Registration was under the direction of Martha Steele. This included swimming and the listing of children 12 and under for Kennedy half dollars. A total of 130 were registered for the coin awards.

Al Deckard and Charles Harrison were busy during the day supervising the softdrink concession. Betty Riffle and Jo Woodward were in charge of the food committee and supervised the 5 p. m. dinner.

VANGUNDY directed the awarding of door prizes, assisted by Deckard and Harrison. Prizes went to 15 persons. The balance of awards were distributed during games later in the evening.

Plans are now being made by LMP Club officers and directors for the annual "Turkey Day" which is observed prior to Thanksgiving. A program also is being formulated for the yearly Children's Christmas party and dance for adult members which will be held in December.

How Repeal of the Excise Tax Will Affect Your Phone Bill

Reduction in the Federal Excise Tax just approved by Congress and signed into law by the President will result in substantial savings to all telephone users.

The 10 per cent tax on local and long distance calls will be lowered to 3 per cent on January 1, 1966. A new rate of 2 per cent will apply on January 1, 1967, with a further decrease to 1 per cent on January 1, 1968. The tax will be eliminated the following year.

What does this mean to you as a customer? Check your next phone bill. You can figure how much lower it will be. Under the space noting tax on local and long distance service, your tax will be lower by 7 per cent starting January 1.

Our customers in 1966 would have paid about $3,664,000 in Federal Excise Tax. With the reduction the savings to customers will total more than $2.5 million. And by 1969, the year the tax is to be wiped out entirely, our customers will save more than $4.5 million.

General Telephone pointed out on frequent occasions that the tax was inequitable and should be removed. We are extremely pleased that Congress has voted to reduce the tax and in three years eliminate it.

We are doubly pleased that the resulting savings will be received by you — our customers.

A-Labs Busy with Nonweapon Experiments

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — During World War II years when the first atomic bombs were being secretly made in this mountain hideaway, one of the rumors in distant towns concerning what the scientists were up to was this:

"They're making windshield wipers for submarines."

Today, the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory of the Atomic Energy Commission makes no secret of the fact that it, and another laboratory at Livermore, are the places where all the nation's bombs, missiles and other nuclear arms are created.

Even so, some pretty unusual, nonweapon activities are going on at both laboratories.

These include:

1. The quest to harness the fearsome hydrogen bomb reaction for peacetime electricity production — a quest which was pioneered at Los Alamos in a machine dubbed the "perhasatron."

2. The "Rover Project" — The dream of using nuclear reactors to propel spacecraft to distant planets, perhaps at speeds approaching the velocity of light, instead of using conventional chemical boosters.

3. "Plowshare" — The program aimed at using nuclear explosives for peacetime uses in a range from manufacturing new elements and increasing the flow of natural gas deep underground to carving out canals and harbors on the earth's surface.

The two men who are most immediately responsible for keeping America's nuclear arsenal stocked with the very best in the weapons field are Dr. Norris E. Bradbury, director of the Los Alamos lab, and Dr. John Foster, director at Livermore, which is a branch of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory of the University of California at Berkeley.

Bradbury was one of the developers of the original A-bombs in those hush-hush days when the Army took over an exclusive boys ranch school and built a secret city around it.

Bradbury says weapons still constitute at least 50 per cent of the lab's effort, and that "if the chips were down" — and war was on or imminent — his entire staff of 7,000 would be working full blast on the exclusive effort of producing even more powerful, efficient and sophisticated weapons.

From the start of discussions leading up to the signing of the limited nuclear test ban treaty — which outlaws all but underground testing — Bradbury was convinced that such a move offered the "possibility of taking the first real, even if small, step in the direction of the prevention of a nuclear war."

And he says "We've learned to test underground successfully."

The Atomic Energy Commission, in formal reports, has said that "significant progress" has been made in both offensive and defensive nuclear capability during the period of underground testing.

Foster was at first vigorously opposed to calling off atmospheric nuclear tests.

He argued, in testimony before congressional committees, that the elimination of atmospheric tests would disadvantage the United States more than Russia.

He says his fears have been eased somewhat by the relatively rapid pace of America's underground testing and by what he terms clear evidence that the laboratories have continued to maintain top people and vigorous programs.

Foster also says that the treaty — which stipulates that radioactivity from underground tests be kept within the territorial limits of the testing country — is "preventing us from proceeding as vigorously as we otherwise might" with canal-digging and kindred potential applications of the Plowshare program.

"We're doing our best," he said, "to 'clean up' nuclear explosives so that the radioactivity will be lessened."

"But, as for exploding, say, 100 kilotons — the equivalent of 100,000 tons of TNT — to produce craters for something like the Panama Canal, we can't do this today without violating the treaty — at least as it's being interpreted by the United States."

However, Foster and other AEC "plowshare" experts make clear that even under strictest interpretation of the treaty, many valuable lessons can be learned from cratering experiments of more modest explosive yields.

They also point out that deep-underground Plowshare tests — the ones involving no cratering at all — offer rich potential for yielding other peacetime benefits for man. These would include such possibilities as releasing oil from shale deposits difficult to tap by conventional techniques.

Cigarette Warning Bill Given Nod

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional compromise was reached Thursday on legislation to require warnings against cigarette smoking.

Under it all cigarette packages and cartons must carry this label in a conspicuous position: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous To Your Health."

The compromise bars the Federal Trade Commission from requiring any warning in advertising earlier than July 1, 1969. Congress may take another look at the matter before that date.

A Senate - House committee worked out the compromise from differing bills passed by the two branches of Congress. The committee's decisions are subject to ratification by the Senate and House.

The principal differences were as to advertising and as to the position of the warning on cigarette packages.

The Senate bill would have blocked any requirement for a warning in advertising before 1968. The House bill would have blocked it permanently.

The Senate bill would have required that the warning label on packages and cartons of cigarettes be on the front. The House ordered it on the side.

The compromise says only that the warning must be in a conspicuous place.

GETTING READY — These three men are busy preparing food for the 500 persons who attended the annual Lincoln Molded Plastics Club picnic at Ted Lewis Park. Swimming, games and contests were conducted throughout the day. The picnic is one of several events sponsored by the LMP Club during the year.

Lincoln Plastics Picnic Attended by 500 Persons

Approximately 500 persons were on hand for the annual Lincoln Molded Plastics Club

picnic at Ted Lewis Park.

Robert VanGundy, club president, said that during the past eight years attendance at the picnic has doubled. He attributed the success to extra efforts by officers, directors and club members.

Registration was under the direction of Martha Steele. This included swimming and the listing of children 12 and under for Kennedy half dollars. A total of 130 were registered for the coin awards.

Al Deekard and Charles Harrison were busy during the day supervising the softdrink concession. Betty Riffle and Jo Woodward were in charge of the food committee and supervised the 5 p. m. dinner.

VANGUNDY directed the awarding of door prizes, assisted by Deekard and Harrison. Prizes went to 15 persons. The balance of awards were distributed during games later in the evening.

Plans are now being made by LMP Club officers and directors for the annual "Turkey Day" which is observed prior to Thanksgiving. A program also is being formulated for the yearly Children's Christmas party and dance for adult members which will be held in December.

Ohio Aged Care Costs $88.4 Million in Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio spent $88.4 million, an increase of nearly $2 million, to handle its aid for the aged program in fiscal 1964-65, according to State Auditor Chester W. Goble.

Health care payments during the fiscal year just ended reached a record $22,736,321, an increase of $3,029,454.

$30 Million Repairs Due for Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. Corps of Engineers has approved a $30-million program to restore Miami Beach's rapidly shrinking shore and provide hurricane protection.

The program would create a sand dune 20 to 50 feet wide along some of the most expensive shoreline in the world.

Johnson Appeal Brings 11,210 Job Offers

CLEVELAND (AP)—The U.S. Department of Labor office in Cleveland reports that some 11,210 summer job offers have been made in Ohio since President Johnson's appeal May 23. John W. Lehman, department official, said Thursday that the President's youth opportunity campaign is gaining momentum each week.

THE LAMP IN THE WINDOW
Symbolic of the earlier days of American pharmacy was the lighted lamp in the drugstore window. All through the night it glowed, a beacon of hope, a symbol of unselfish service. Although the historic lamp is now practically extinct, the fundamentals of pharmaceutical practice have changed but little. The responsibilities of the pharmacist are greater today than ever before — he is a vital factor in medical care. Your patronage is invited.

How Repeal of the Excise Tax Will Affect Your Phone Bill

Reduction in the Federal Excise Tax just approved by Congress and signed into law by the President will result in substantial savings to all telephone users.

The 10 per cent tax on local and long distance calls will be lowered to 3 per cent on January 1, 1966. A new rate of 2 per cent will apply on January 1, 1967, with a further decrease to 1 per cent on January 1, 1968. The tax will be eliminated the following year.

What does this mean to you as a customer? Check your next phone bill. You can figure how much lower it will be. Under the space noting tax on local and long distance service, your tax will be lower by 7 per cent starting January 1.

Our customers in 1966 would have paid about $3,664,000 in Federal Excise Tax. With the reduction the savings to customers will total more than $2.5 million. And by 1969, the year the tax is to be wiped out entirely, our customers will save more than $4.5 million.

General Telephone pointed out on frequent occasions that the tax was inequitable and should be removed. We are extremely pleased that Congress has voted to reduce the tax and in three years eliminate it.

We are doubly pleased that the resulting savings will be received by you — our customers.

Couple Wed at Coshocton

MR. AND MRS. GARY REICHELDERFER

Miss Mitzie Lynn Reiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reiss, Route 4, Coshocton, became the bride of Mr. Gary E. Reichelderfer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Reichelderfer, West Lafayette, at the West Lafayette Methodist Church on Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. Paul Olinger officiated before the altar decorated with palms, vases of white flowers and candelabra.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Robert Stevenson, vocalist, and Mrs. J. L. Grandstaff, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long white satin gown styled with a train with seed pearls enhancing the waist and skirt. She wore a white pillbox which held a long veil of silk illusion and wore pearl earrings and necklace, a gift of the groom. Her white Bible was topped with an orchid with white satin streamers attached.

Maid of honor was Miss Cheri Reiss, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Smith, Worthington, and Miss Betty Downey, Coshocton. All attendants wore yellow ballerina-length gowns with seeded pearls decorating their skirts.

They were matching slippers and their flowers were yellow gladioli with yellow satin streamers.

Miss Sandra Layton as flower girl wore a frock of yellow satin with veil to match and white accessories.

Don Reichelderfer served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Charles Shaffer, West Lafayette; Dick Taylor, Worthington; and Bill Younkin Circleville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Reiss wore a blue lace dress and her shoulder corsage was of blue carnations. The mother of the groom wore white chiffon with yellow and beige flowers design and her flowers were yellow carnations.

At the reception, Mrs. Lester Brady, Westerville; Mrs. Alva Layton, Circleville; Mrs. Gardner Welch, Coshocton; and Mrs. Victor Barrick, West Lafayette, served at the tea table which was centered with a five-tiered wedding cake and yellow candles. Miss Caonnie Layton had charge of the guest book.

Following a wedding trip the couple will reside at 521 S. Eighth St., Coshocton.

The bride is a graduate of Coshocton High School and employed at the Child Welfare Board office.

The bridegroom, a 1964 graduate of West Lafayette High School, attended Columbus Business University and Ohio State University. He is employed at General Electric. He and his family are former residents of Circleville.

Miss Fanin Feted with Bridal Shower

Mrs. Christine Stump and Mrs. Jessie Swackhammer entertained with a bridal shower Saturday evening at the Arnold Fanin home near Tarlton, honoring Miss Patricia Fanin, bride elect of Martin Barr.

The gift table was decorated with drapes of pink crepe paper and white wedding bells.

The group spent the evening socializing and playing games. Prizes were won by Mrs. Betty Thomas, Wilma Rathbone and Mabel Barr with the door prize going to Gwen Gilley.

Refreshments of cake and ice cream, cashews and mints, coffee and iced tea were served to the following: Mrs. Anne Fanin, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Melvin Barr, mother of the groom to be, Esther Stevens, Mrs. Bill Stevens, Mrs. Connie Adams, Mrs. Delphian Koch, Mabel Barr, Dorothy Barr, Ruth Peters, Mrs. Carrie Tatman, Mrs. Dorothy Creager, Mrs. Linda Smith, Mrs. Charlotte Paxton and daughters, Mrs. Betty Thomas, Mrs. Jane Stevens, Gwen Gilley, Jean Stines, Mary Jane Smith, Wilma Rathbone, Karen and Ellen Fuls and the guest of honor, Pat Fanin.

Those sending gifts were Charlotte Arledge, Ollie Fossnaugh, Libby Pettibone, Judy Stuckey, Wanda Sites, Janice Congrove, Mary Seymour, and Rozella Schwalbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. James Fanin, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stimmer, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stevens, Mrs. L. G. Mullins, Mrs. Gary Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens, and Miss Mollie Stevens of Flatwood, Ky.

I have a space between my two front teeth big enough for another tooth to fit into. I attract boys, but when I give them a smile, they are gone. My parents say as long as I can chew okay and my teeth don't ache I don't need a dentist, as they can't afford it right now. Everyone calls me the girl with her teeth parted in the middle. I know other people have worse problems, but what can I do about mine?

SELF-CONSCIOUS DEAR SELF: I understand your plea for a pretty smile, and agree with it. Ask your parents to let you find a good dentist with a "time-payment" plan. As a girl's face can be her fortune, her smile can be the "interest."

DEAR ABBY: My husband passed away a very short time ago. While I was still numb from grief and shock, his mother barged into my home and demanded that I return the furniture which she had given us when we were first married. This furniture was old and she was going to throw it away, but my husband rescued it from the junk heap and he and I refinished it. I never knew that things given to one's husband had to be returned after his death. Is this legal? My friends tell me I should see a lawyer. Should I?

CONFUSED DEAR ABBY: First, tell your deceased husband's mother that you have been advised to consult a lawyer. After that, I don't think you'll have to.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day, but never thought I'd be writing to you. I have a wonderful husband in every respect, except for one. He smokes his cigarettes down until they are about a quarter of an inch long. That is no lie. He has to drop it from his mouth into an ash tray because he can't get hold of it with his fingers. He has bought many cigarette holders, but the plastic ones melt and the metal ones have to have the remains dug out. Once the butt stuck to his lips and I had to use a pair of tweezers to get it off. I've tried telling him about it in private, and even making fun of him in public, but I just can't win. Help!

HAVE HAD IT DEAR HAVE: If you've tried telling him in private and teasing him in public, and haven't been able to win, the only solution is for you to become a better loser. Sorry, but there is no teaching a man who doesn't care to learn.

DEAR ABBY: A serviceman once wrote that he was hurt because no respectable girl was allowed to date a man in uniform. He reminded me of a serviceman I once met when I was 16. He also said that he missed being made welcome in a home comparable to that of his parents'. I felt so sorry for him that I talked it over with my parents. They trusted me and agreed to give some of these servicemen a chance to show they were gentlemen. Mother got in touch with the chaplain at the base near our town and asked him to send 20 nice young men to our home for a swimming party and barbecue supper. I invited 19 nice girls to be their dates. It was so much fun that we did this every Sunday. The parties were chaperoned by my parents, and I can honestly say that there was not one serviceman who got out of line. I am now 37, happily married and have three daughters. And if THEY want to date servicemen, I'm going to use the same plan my parents used for me. Thank you.

9 Gallopin' Grandmas Set For Journey

COTTAGE GROVE, Ore. (AP) — Nine "gallopin' grandmas" prefer horses to horsepower in making their annual 28-mile freeway trip to the Fourth of July Yoncalla Rodeo in western Oregon.

The "elderly ladies" of the Cottage Grove Riding Club have made the trip by horseback for the last four years. The older gentlemen and the younger set of the club follow in motor vehicles.

Mrs. Roy Easley, 52, started the all-day excursion four years ago when she challenged Mrs. D. K. Mosby to make the trip on horseback. Two other ladies accompanied them.

"Some of us were kinda sore, but we made it," Mrs. Easley said. "We had so much fun and excitement we decided to do it again an eight or nine have made the trip every year since."

Mrs. Easley said the members of the "gallopin' grandmas" range in age from 25 to 55, but she admits not all are grandmothers.

The grandmas arrive at Yoncalla late in the afternoon and camp at the rodeo grounds with other members of the riding club.

Saturday the entire riding club will be in the Yoncalla Rodeo parade.

No Definition Is Available For 'Beatnik'

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — There may not be a legal definition of a beatnik, but residents of this resort town on the tip of Cape Cod have no trouble finding words to describe the type.

The problem of a legal definition arose after residents submitted a "ban the beatniks" petition to town officials.

"Everyone knows you can't ban beatniks," said Town Clerk William McCaffrey, "unless they break the law. Besides, what is a beatnik?"

Town selectmen tabled the petition on the ground that there is no legal definition of beatnik. Evelyn Bent of the weekly Provincetown Advocate says the beatnik migration increases in size each summer.

"This crowd," she says, "comes down with practically nothing and manages to survive without working or bathing."

McCaffrey says there aren't many beatniks compared to the thousands of paying tourists who swell the summer population, "but in a little town like this, when it gets congested, and with the narrow streets, if you see he same goon 15 times in one day, you go away with the impression the town is full of them."

9 Gallopin' Grandmas Set For Journey

COTTAGE GROVE, Ore. (AP) — Nine "gallopin' grandmas" prefer horses to horsepower in making their annual 28-mile freeway trip to the Fourth of July Yoncalla Rodeo in western Oregon.

The "elderly ladies" of the Cottage Grove Riding Club have made the trip by horseback for the last four years. The older gentlemen and the younger set of the club follow in motor vehicles.

Mrs. Roy Easley, 52, started the all-day excursion four years ago when she challenged Mrs. D. K. Mosby to make the trip on horseback. Two other ladies accompanied them.

"Some of us were kinda sore, but we made it," Mrs. Easley said. "We had so much fun and excitement we decided to do it again an eight or nine have made the trip every year since."

Mrs. Easley said the members of the "gallopin' grandmas" range in age from 25 to 55, but she admits not all are grandmothers.

The grandmas arrive at Yoncalla late in the afternoon and camp at the rodeo grounds with other members of the riding club.

Saturday the entire riding club will be in the Yoncalla Rodeo parade.

No Definition Is Available For 'Beatnik'

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — There may not be a legal definition of a beatnik, but residents of this resort town on the tip of Cape Cod have no trouble finding words to describe the type.

The problem of a legal definition arose after residents submitted a "ban the beatniks" petition to town officials.

"Everyone knows you can't ban beatniks," said Town Clerk William McCaffrey, "unless they break the law. Besides, what is a beatnik?"

Town selectmen tabled the petition on the ground that there is no legal definition of beatnik. Evelyn Bent of the weekly Provincetown Advocate says the beatnik migration increases in size each summer.

"This crowd," she says, "comes down with practically nothing and manages to survive without working or bathing."

McCaffrey says there aren't many beatniks compared to the thousands of paying tourists who swell the summer population, "but in a little town like this, when it gets congested, and with the narrow streets, if you see he same goon 15 times in one day, you go away with the impression the town is full of them."

NEW DESIGN — European members of the Haute Couture are showing great interest in American fabrics and fibers this season. Italian designers, who are noted for their way with knits, are using many of the man-made miracle materials. Shown above, a very long yellow pullover of textured nylon features white piping on its turtle-neck collar and cuffs.

Foundation of Christian Growth

SPIRITUAL GROWTH IS NECESSARY FOR EVERY BELIEVER

Scripture — I Corinthians 3; II Corinthians 5:11-20.

By R. H. RAMSEY

GROWING as Christians is the theme of today's lesson and those to follow in the next few months. During this period we shall examine not only the meaning of Christian growth, but also such general subjects as how Christians grow, hindrances to Christian growth, and the areas in which Christians can grow.

Are we, as individuals, growing as Christians? To be sure we are not standing still, for at every given point in our lives we are going forward or backward, morally and spiritually. Christians grow because they become new persons through Christ. Christians grow because they work at it.

It requires much faith, discipline, patience, love, sacrifice and putting aside of self. A life of Christian love and usefulness is a challenge, a battlefield, a pilgrimage, with periods of still waters and green pastures along the way in which to refresh ourselves and restore our souls.

Today's lesson material is taken from Paul's letter to the Corinthian church, which Paul, together with Silas and Timo-

Corinthian church. They were fools to divide into camps and express loyalties to individual ministers. The ministers were servants of God, not leaders of parties or founders of sects within the church. Their mission was to strengthen and unite the church, building upon the foundation he had laid. Paul's foundation was the one laid by Christ Jesus and there could be no other.

Ministers and members were fellow-workers belonging to God. As God's they are one, with a common task, to labor in the field belonging to God, i.e., the church. Such sectarianism and pettiness which they were exhibiting would vanish if they would only remember that Christ, alone, was the Head of the church; that they were Christ's and Christ's were God's.

Our lesson concludes with a passage from Paul's second letter to the Corinthians which gives us an insight into the very heart of his gospel. The love of Christ is the governing influence which controls life. The love of Christ impels a Christian to make the will of Christ the rule of his obedience; thy, had founded and where he remained for more than a year.

GOLDEN TEXT

"For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." — I Corinthians 3:11.

In Paul's time, Corinth was the capital of the Roman province of Achaia, a city of great political and economic importance, and the seat of worship of Venus and the impure cults from Egypt and Asia. Thus, Corinthian life was one of luxury and licentiousness, and the founding of a Christian church in such a community illustrates the tremendous power of the Gospel in human life.

Though the members of the Corinthian church had adopted the Christian faith, their old nature persisted. They were "babes in Christ," spiritually undeveloped. Torn by strife, jealousy and immorality, they lacked a true spirit of Christian love, faith and service. Their worldliness and immaturity were obvious to Paul and his reprimand was sharp. To him the Corinthians were not as men reborn, they were still "carnal," in that they allowed fleshly and worldly desires to so dominate them that the action of the Holy Spirit within them was hindered.

Next Paul took up the matter of factions dividing the church. Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Divisions of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is a memorable day which usually gets mixed up in the American mind. But it's a mixed up story anyway.

This country declared its independence 189 years ago today, July 2, 1776. It was on July 4, 1776 that Congress approved the Declaration of Independence which simply explained why it did what it did two days before.

But it's July 4 which is celebrated as Independence Day. On Sunday, no doubt, all over America, orators will quote from the Declaration written by Thomas Jefferson.

There were contradictions in what Congress did and in Jefferson, too.

Jefferson said all men are created equal and condemned slavery. Congress accepted the equal but, before approving the document, knocked out the condemnation of slavery.

Thus was born a contradiction which has haunted the United States ever since: The unequal treatment of Negroes in a society which is proud of its freedom and proclaims the virtues of equality.

Jefferson in the years after 1776 urged the abolition of slavery but he kept slaves and when he died on July 4, 1826, just 50 years after his declaration, he freed only three and ordered two other freed on becoming 21.

Although he authored the stirring lines about all men's equality, in 1781, five years after the declaration, he expressed the "suspicion" that Negroes were inferior to whites.

Later the bitter struggle over slavery began and reached a screeching point in 1857 when Dred Scott, a Negro, appealed to the Supreme Court for his freedom. The court turned him down.

Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney, a slaveholder who freed his own slaves, said neither a slave nor his descendants had any rights of citizenship. And Taney not only interpreted the Constitution but the Declaration, too.

He said the Declaration's language showed that neither slaves nor their descendants, free or not, were intended to be included in the "general words used in that memorable address."

Actually, the Declaration never mentioned slavery at all, since Congress had eliminated Jefferson's words on that, and never mentioned Negroes directly or by name.

Not satisfied with all this, Taney, although he didn't have to, went on to say Congress didn't have the authority to abolish slavery. The storm broke and the decision of this court, where five of the nine justices were Southerners, helped bring on the Civil War.

Came the war, the freeing of the slaves, and the constitutional amendments abolishing slavery and declaring Negroes citizens with all of citizens' rights, including the right to vote. Taney's decision was thus undone.

But when reaction set in the Southern states clamped restrictions on the recently freed Negroes. Once more the court stepped in, this time with a decision setting Negroes back more than half a century.

In 1896 the court said it was constitutional to segregate Negroes so long as they got equal treatment. But this meant unequal on the face of it since whites, not Negroes, made the laws segregating Negroes.

That decision stood for 58 years although the court after World War II was moving in the direction of equal treatment. Then on May 17, 1954 came one of the great explosions in American life.

Although talking only about schools, the Supreme Court in effect said segregation by its very nature meant unequal treatment and therefore couldn't stand. The court has backed this up in one decision after another ever since.

And in 1957 Congress, after more than 75 years of sidestepping legislation on civil rights, passed the first Civil Rights Act in this century. Negroes gained confidence, struggled, demonstrated for even more equal treatment.

Congress passed another Civil Rights Act in 1960, still another in 1964, and this year is expected to pass a voting rights measure.

And today, the anniversary of America's decision to separate from the British crown, a memorable section of that 1964 law, delayed a year, went into effect.

It forbids discrimination in employment because of race, color, religion, national origin, or sex. It has taken this country 189 years to make good on the boasts of the Declaration and it hasn't quite finished the task.

Foundation of Christian Growth

SPIRITUAL GROWTH IS NECESSARY FOR EVERY BELIEVER

Scripture — I Corinthians 3; II Corinthians 5:11-20.

By R. H. RAMSEY
GROWING as Christians is the theme of today's lesson and those to follow in the next few months. During this period we shall examine not only the meaning of Christian growth, but also such general subjects as how Christians grow, hindrances to Christian growth, and the areas in which Christians can grow.

Are we, as individuals, growing as Christians? To be sure we are not standing still, for at every given point in our lives we are going forward or backward, morally and spiritually. Christians grow because they become new persons through Christ. Christians grow because they work at it.

It requires much faith, discipline, patience, love, sacrifice and putting aside of self. A life of Christian love and usefulness is a challenge, a battlefield, a pilgrimage, with periods of still waters and green pastures along the way in which to refresh ourselves and restore our souls.

Today's lesson material is taken from Paul's letter to the Corinthian church, which Paul, together with Silas and Timotheus, and the glory of Christ is the great end for which he lives. The love of Christ radically and vitally alters the lives of those resolved to live in Him, and through the working of the Holy Spirit man is reborn into a spiritual life that makes him no longer what he was before, but a new person to whom "all things are become new." This was not only Paul's experience as a Christian, but is common to all Christians.

Socially, politically and economically man reaches out to find his help. But until religion is brought into play upon a man's life he finds himself dissatisfied and still in quest of true happiness. It takes faith for man to complete the cycle of his attainment. For the Christian the cycle reaches fulfillment when he sees himself—and his fellow men—as a child of God, and gives his life utterly to the will of Christ.

In Him, the Christian finds the answer to his deepest needs, and the inner satisfactions of life. Without Him, man goes on searching for that which will please and satisfy, and finds only a life filled with keen disappointments.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is a memorable day which usually gets mixed up in the American mind. But it's a mixed up story anyway.

This country declared its independence 189 years ago today, July 2, 1776. It was on July 4, 1776 that Congress approved the Declaration of Independence which simply explained why it did what it did two days before.

But it's July 4 which is celebrated as Independence Day. On Sunday, no doubt, all over America, orators will quote from the Declaration written by Thomas Jefferson.

There were contradictions in what Congress did and in Jefferson, too.

Jefferson said all men are created equal and condemned slavery. Congress accepted the equal but, before approving the document, knocked out the condemnation of slavery.

Thus was born a contradiction which has haunted the United States ever since: The unequal treatment of Negroes in a society which is proud of its freedom and proclaims the virtues of equality.

Jefferson in the years after 1776 urged the abolition of slavery but he kept slaves and when he died on July 4, 1826, just 50 years after his declaration, he freed only three and ordered two other freed on becoming 21.

Although he authored the stirring lines about all men's equality, in 1781, five years after the declaration, he expressed the "suspicion" that Negroes were inferior to whites.

Later the bitter struggle over slavery began and reached a screeching point in 1857 when Dred Scott, a Negro, appealed to the Supreme Court for his freedom. The court turned him down.

Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney, a slaveholder who freed his own slaves, said neither a slave nor his descendants had any rights of citizenship. And Taney not only interpreted the Constitution but the Declaration, too.

He said the Declaration's language showed that neither slaves nor their descendants, free or not, were intended to be included in the "general words used in that memorable address."

Actually, the Declaration never mentioned slavery at all, since Congress had eliminated Jefferson's words on that, and never mentioned Negroes directly or by name.

Not satisfied with all this, Taney, although he didn't have to, went on to say Congress didn't have the authority to abolish slavery. The storm broke and the decision of this court, where five of the nine justices were Southerners, helped bring on the Civil War.

Came the war, the freeing of the slaves, and the constitutional amendments abolishing slavery and declaring Negroes citizens with all of citizens' rights, including the right to vote. Taney's decision was thus undone.

But when reaction set in the Southern states clamped restrictions on the recently freed Negroes. Once more the court stepped in, this time with a decision setting Negroes back more than half a century.

In 1896 the court said it was constitutional to segregate Negroes so long as they got equal treatment. But this meant unequal on the face of it since whites, not Negroes, made the laws segregating Negroes.

That decision stood for 58 years although the court after World War II was moving in the direction of equal treatment. Then on May 17, 1954 came one of the great explosions in American life.

Although talking only about schools, the Supreme Court in effect said segregation by its very nature meant unequal treatment and therefore couldn't stand. The court has backed this up in one decision after another ever since.

And in 1957 Congress, after more than 75 years of sidestepping legislation on civil rights, passed the first Civil Rights Act in this century. Negroes gained confidence, struggled, demonstrated for even more equal treatment.

Congress passed another Civil Rights Act in 1960, still another in 1964, and this year is expected to pass a voting rights measure.

And today, the anniversary of America's decision to separate from the British crown, a memorable section of that 1964 law, delayed a year, went into effect.

It forbids discrimination in employment because of race, color, religion, national origin, or sex. It has taken this country 189 years to make good on the boasts of the Declaration and it hasn't quite finished the task.

Kiwanis Tops Du Pont, 9-4

Kiwanis deadlocked the Babe Ruth league last night by thumping Du Pont, 9-4, at the Fairgrounds.

Kiwanis and L. M. Butch are tied for the lead with 6-2 slates.

Dale Jenne hurled for Kiwanis and went the distance. He issued five bases-on-balls, struck out 10 and allowed no hits.

George Griebel and Danny Gibbs split the hurling duties for Du Pont. Griebel walked three, fanned five, allowed three hits in three innings and was charged with the loss. Gibbs hurled four and walked three, whiffed six and gave up five hits.

Bob Dean, Joe Winner and Ron Bryant each tagged two bingles, a double and a single, for Kiwanis. Bryant, Dean and Jenne each scored twice.

3rd National Trips Savings

7-5 Win Deadlocks Pony League Lead

The Third National Bank edged into a first place deadlock in the Pony League yesterday, defeating the Savings Bank nine, 7-5.

Both the Third and the VFW teams have won four and lost two.

The loss leaves the Savings Bank at 3-3.

Fausnaugh was the winning pitcher while Dave Dresbach was charged with the loss.

For the winners, Ronald Neal blasted a homerun. Richard Walters and Fausnaugh tripled and Mike Funk doubled.

Pacing the Savings Bank attack was David Hopkins who blasted a homerun and singled in four trips to the plate.

Tribe Hikes Its Lead in AL Flag Race

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Cleveland Indians stretched their American League lead to a full game Thursday night, but more important than the 7-2 victory was the way Sonny Siebert looked in setting down the Washington Senators.

The 28-year-old right-hander has been bothered by an inflamed tendon in his right shoulder and lasted less than three innings in his last start. He did pitch three innings in relief Sunday and looked good, although he said he was still concerned about his shoulder.

"I got by that day without really 'popping' my slider," Siebert said before Thursday night's game. "I don't know what will happen when I do—but I'm going to give it a good try tonight."

The slider "popped," and Siebert wound up striking out 11 men for his ninth victory.

And his teammates, who lost their hitting touch against Washington's Phil Ortega Wednesday night, came up with some solid hitting to give the Indians their 17th victory in their last 20 games.

Big blows in the Indians' attack were a two-run homer by Leon Wagner, a pair of doubles by Chuck Hinton and three singles by Max Alvis.

Wimbledon Finals Look Familiar

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The Wimbledon Tennis Tournament had a slightly familiar look today. The all-night queues of fans on the sidewalks waited to see the Australian serve-and-volley specialists, Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle pound away at each other in the men's final.

That's exactly as it was last year. Emerson then won in four sets.

The Pickaway Country Club will be the scene of a Central Ohio PGA pro-amateur tournament Tuesday, it has been announced by Tom Cassidy, PCC pro.

Cassidy noted the event will bring some of the better golfers in the area to the local course.

The Tuesday golf league will be postponed until Thursday next week because of the program event.

PCC golfers may register at the pro shop for the pony tournament scheduled July 4, and for the Directors Tournament scheduled July 10 and 11.

The PCC pro reported he had tickets for the Ladies Carling Open, which will be played at Walnut Hill Country Club in Columbus July 8 through 11.

Candy Sibbick, 14-year-old Pickaway Country Club ladies champion, fired a 40-38-78 recently. According to Cassidy, there is no record of any ladies score which is better at the country club.

He called it "one of the finest rounds for a 14-year-old girl I have ever heard of."

The Junior Golf League is going nicely, the pro reports. Scheduled every Friday, the 8 to 10-year-old youths play three holes while the 10 through teenage group plays nine holes. A clinic is held every other week.

Columbus Jets' Spurt Pays Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Columbus Jets are the type of team to make the old baseball adage "the game isn't over until the last man is out" have the ring of truth.

Behind 5-1 going into the last of the ninth Thursday night against Toledo, the Jets rallied for five runs to win and move within one game of first place in the International League.

John Powers hit a two-run homer, Bob Perry tripled home another run, Jack Daska singled in the tying run, and George Sprigg's long drive to left center gave the Jets their 10th victory of the 11-game home stand.

Michigan State basketball coach John Benington captained the University of San Francisco team that won the 1949 National Invitation Tournament in New York.

Californian Holds Lead in Women's Test

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Kathy Cornelius wants to win the big one again and then settle down to the life of a housewife and mother.

"I won't play more than 10 tournaments next year," said the 32-year-old touring veteran from Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., after taking a one-stroke lead in the first round of the Women's National Open Golf championship Thursday.

"I'm going to settle down with my husband and daughter," she said. "I'm going to be an assistant to the assistant pro at Rancho Santa Fe."

Her husband, Bill, is the head pro at the Rancho Santa Fe Club. Her daughter, Karen is 11.

Mrs. Cornelius, winner of the Open in 1956, shot a one-under par 71 for a one stroke lead over Marlene Bauer Hage of Sarasota, Fla.

But the surprise in the field was amateur Anne Quast Welts of Mt. Vernon, Wash., whose 74 put her in third place. Mrs. Welts, three-time national women's amateur champ, hadn't played a tournament since last August and had a baby six months ago.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., seeking her fifth women's open, shot a 75 and tied for fourth with last year's rookie of year, Susie Maxwell of Oklahoma City, and Marilyn Smith of Jupiter, Fla.

Local Horsemen Win at Scioto

Two Pickaway County horsemen reined winners at Scioto Downs in the first two races last night.

Jim Mace, who trained at the George Van Camp farm just north of Circleville this past winter, was in the sulky when Bar Ti came to the front early and led all the way. The winning time was 2:09 4-5.

The second race saw Emmett Ebenhack, well known Wayne Twp. farmer-horseman, drive Success Creed to a win by more than three lengths. The time for the mile was 2:07 4-5.

Bar Ti is owned by Howard Duma of Clinton. Guy and Theodore Lahmon own Success Creed.

Bingmans, Ralston Purina Win Little League Decisions

The Major Division of the Little League took an about-face last night as Bingman Drugs edged the Coca-Cola Jets 4-2 and Ralston Purina upset The Herald Hawks, 18-9.

Bingmans now stands in first with a 6-2 slate. The Hawks and the Elks are deadlocked for second with five wins and three losses.

The Jets couldn't manage a single hit off Richard Radcliff and Mike Fuller. Radcliff went three, walking four and fanning four. Fuller issued two walks and struck out three in his three frames for the Drugmen.

Both Radcliff and Fuller gave up a run. The Jets scored in the first inning and again in the last.

JOHN HUNT, Don Valentine and Greg Heiskell shared the duties for Coke. Hunt started and lasted five full innings and faced five batters in the sixth before he was yanked. He walked three, whiffed six and allowed two hits. Valentine saw limited action as he faced two batters, fanning one and walking one. Heiskell came in and finished the game, walking one.

Rickey Blankenship managed the only extra base bingle of the game, a two bagger. Radcliff

Modell Increases Browns Holdings

CLEVELAND (AP)—Art Modell, who bought about a 50 per cent interest in the Cleveland Browns when the professional football club changed hands in 1961, has added another 20 per cent to his holdings.

Modell, president of the Browns, said Thursday he bought out the holdings of R.J. Schaeffer, head of the Schaeffer Brewing Corp. and a friend of Modell's.

Amount involved in the transaction was not revealed. The reported price when Modell's group bought the Browns in 1961 was $4 million, but one source estimated the current value of the club at more than $10 million.

The other 30 per cent of Browns' stock is split among former Coach Paul Brown.

Kiwanis Tops Du Pont, 9-4

Kiwanis deadlocked the Babe Ruth league last night by thumping Du Pont, 9-4, at the Fairgrounds.

Kiwanis and L. M. Butch are tied for the lead with 6-2 slates.

Dale Jenne hurled for Kiwanis and went the distance. He issued five bases-on-balls, struck out 10 and allowed no hits.

George Griebel and Danny Gibbs split the hurling duties for Du Pont. Griebel walked three, fanned five, allowed three hits in three innings and was charged with the loss. Gibbs hurled four and walked three, whiffed six and gave up five hits.

Bob Dean, Joe Winner and Ron Bryant each tagged two bingles, a double and a single, for Kiwanis. Bryant, Dean and Jenne each scored twice.

7-5 Win Deadlocks Pony League Lead

The Third National Bank edged into a first place deadlock in the Pony League yesterday, defeating the Savings Bank nine, 7-5.

Both the Third and the VFW teams have won four and lost two.

The loss leaves the Savings Bank at 3-3.

Fausnaugh was the winning pitcher while Dave Dresbach was charged with the loss.

For the winners, Ronald Neal blasted a homerun, Richard Walters and Fausnaugh tripled and Mike Funk doubled.

Pacing the Savings Bank attack was David Hopkins who blasted a homerun and singled in four trips to the plate.

Tribe Hikes Its Lead in AL Flag Race

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Cleveland Indians stretched their American League lead to a full game Thursday night, but more important than the 7-2 victory was the way Sonny Siebert looked in setting down the Washington Senators.

The 28-year-old right-hander has been bothered by an inflamed tendon in his right shoulder and lasted less than three innings in his last start. He did pitch three innings in relief Sunday and looked good, although he said he was still concerned about his shoulder.

"I got by that day without really 'popping' my slider," Siebert said before Thursday night's game. "I don't know what will happen when I do—but I'm going to give it a good try tonight."

The slider "popped," and Siebert wound up striking out 11 men for his ninth victory.

And his teammates, who lost their hitting touch against Washington's Phil Ortega Wednesday night, came up with some solid hitting to give the Indians their 17th victory in their last 20 games.

Big blows in the Indians' attack were a two-run homer by Leon Wagner, a pair of doubles by Chuck Hinton and three singles by Max Alvis.

Pop Ivy will coach the defense of the New York Giants during the coming football season. Emlen Tunnell will handle the defensive backs.

Wimbledon Finals Look Familiar

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The Wimbledon Tennis Tournament had a slightly familiar look today. The all-night queues of fans on the sidewalks waited to see the Australian serve-and-volley specialists, Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle pound away at each other in the men's final.

That's exactly as it was last year. Emerson then won in four sets.

The Pickaway Country Club will be the scene of a Central Ohio PGA pro-amateur tournament Tuesday. It has been announced by Tom Cassidy, PCC pro.

Cassidy noted the event will bring some of the better golfers in the area to the local course. The Tuesday golf league will be postponed until Thursday next week because of the program event.

PCC golfers may register at the pro shop for the pony tournament scheduled July 4, and for the Directors Tournament scheduled July 10 and 11.

The PCC pro reported he had tickets for the Ladies Carling Open, which will be played at Walnut Hill Country Club in Columbus July 8 through 11.

Candy Sibbick, 14-year-old Pickaway Country Club ladies champion, fired a 40-38-78 recently. According to Cassidy, there is no record of any ladies score which is better at the country club.

He called it "one of the finest rounds for a 14-year-old girl I have ever heard of."

The Junior Golf League is going nicely, the pro reports. Scheduled every Friday, the 8 to 10-year-old youths play three holes while the 10 through teenage group plays nine holes. A clinic is held every other week.

Columbus Jets' Spurt Pays Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Columbus Jets are the type of team to make the old baseball adage "the game isn't over until the last man is out" have the ring of truth.

Behind 5-1 going into the last of the ninth Thursday night against Toledo, the Jets rallied for five runs to win and move within one game of first place in the International League.

John Powers hit a two-run homer, Bob Perry tripled home another run, Jack Daska singled in the tying run, and George Sprigg's long drive to left center gave the Jets their 10th victory of the 11-game home stand.

Michigan State basketball coach John Benington captained the University of San Francisco team that won the 1949 National Invitation Tournament in New York.

Cailifornian Holds Lead in Women's Test

FORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Kathy Cornelius wants to win the big one again and then settle down to the life of a housewife and mother.

"I won't play more than 10 tournaments next year," said the 32-year-old touring veteran from Rancho Sante Fe, Calif., after taking a one-stroke lead in the first round of the Women's National Open Golf championship Thursday.

"I'm going to settle down with my husband and daughter," she said. "I'm going to be an assistant to the assistant pro at Rancho Sante Fe."

Her husband, Bill, is the head pro at the Rancho Sante Fe Club. Her daughter, Karen, is 11.

Mrs. Cornelius, winner of the Open in 1956, shot a one-under par 71 for a one-stroke lead over Marlene Bauer Hage of Sarasota, Fla.

But the surprise in the field was amateur Anne Quast Welts of Mt. Vernon, Wash., whose 74 put her in third place. Mrs. Welts, three-time national women's amateur champ, hadn't played a tournament since last August and had a baby six months ago.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., seeking her fifth women's open, shot a 75 and tied for fourth with last year's rookie of year, Susie Maxwell of Oklahoma City, and Marilyn Smith of Jupiter, Fla.

Rex Baxter Sets Pace in West Open

CHICAGO (AP)—Rex Baxter, a philosophical Texan, hoped today his new putter was sighted on his second pro golf triumph in seven years as the $70,000 Western Open went into the second round.

The 29-year-old Baxter, an NCAA champion for the University of Houston in 1957, shot a five-under-par 66 at Tam O'Shanter Thursday for an one-stroke lead.

Second was Chi Chi Roriguez, the defending champion, who shot 67.

Six players were knotted at 68, including Frank Wharton, Joe Campbell, Fred Hawkins, Sonny Methvin, Bill Garrett and Tom Aaron.

In all, 32 players broke par 71 in the quest for the $11,000 first prize.

Included among 13 bunched at 69 was British Open champion Tony Lama, the Western's headline attraction. The Big Three of U.S. Open champion Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Arnie Palmer skipped this meet.

Baxter, currently 74th on the PGA money list with $5,114, won his only pro tourney at the close of the 1963 tour, the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La.

A new putter he first tested in last weekend's St. Paul Open figured in Baxter's 33-33 round in which he sank two taps from 20 feet and one from 12 to account for three of his six birdies against one bogey. Baxter, USGA junior champion in 1953, turned pro in 1958.

The field will be trimmed to the low 75 players and ties after today's second round. After 54 holes Saturday, it will be cut to the low 60 and ties for Sunday's closing round.

4 Small Boys Break Into Police Academy
FOSTER, R.I. (AP)—Four boys were picked up by state police and accused of breaking into the state police training academy.

Police said the quartet, all under 12, took a first aid kit and some police whistles. The loot was recovered. The boys were referred to family court.

Yankee-Aided Rookie Now Haunts Yankees

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Yankees are putting Curt Blefary through college and Blefary's putting the Yankees through a wringer. Blefary, signed by the Yankees as a hot outfield prospect in 1962 but lost to Baltimore on waivers a year later, continued to haunt his former employers Thursday night, belting a home run and triple in the Orioles' 4-3 victory over New York.

The 21-year-old rookie, a native of Brooklyn, has clubbed five homers, drive in 11 runs and compiled a .375 average in nine games against New York this season. What's more, when he finishes with Yankee pitching he'll hit Yankee management for the unpaid bill on his college education.

The Yankees gave Curt a $20,000 bonus when they signed him off New York's Wagner College campus and agreed to pick up the tab when he returned to school. He has a year to go but will attend classes only during the off-season. So, the Yankees will be paying the bill for another two years.

The Orioles' victory kept them 3 1/2 games behind first-place Cleveland one-half game in front of fifth-place Detroit. The Indians trimmed Washington 7-2 and the Tigers nipped Boston 2-1 in the only other AL action.

Philadelphia edged Milwaukee 2-1 and St. Louis ousted Pittsburgh 7-6 in National League night games. The Chicago Cubs topped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3 and the New York Mets toppled Cincinnati 5-1 in afternoon play.

Leon Wagner's two-run homer, two doubles by Chuck Hinton and three singles by Max Alvis backed the five-hit pitching of Sonny Siebert as the Indians increased their league lead to a full game over Idle Minnesota. Siebert struck out 11 while boosting his record to 9-3. Ken McMullen homered for the Senators.

Gates Brown beat the relay to first on what would have been an inning-ending double play grounder as George Thomas scored the winning run for Detroit in the ninth. Norm Cash started the rally with a bunt single and Thomas, running for Cash, reached third on Don Wert's single.

Orlando Pena, obtained recently from Kansas City, picked up the victory, his first of the year, in relief.

Ohio Fishing Over Holiday To Be 'Fair'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Holiday-bent fishermen in Ohio can look forward to fair water conditions in the coming weekend, the Ohio Division of Wildlife reports.

While no outstanding fishing results have been reported in the past few days, conditions "fair shape" and hard-working anglers are having some success.

Here's the outlook by districts:

DISTRICT 1, CENTRAL—Kiser, Knox, Hargus and Indian Lakes report good water conditions with bass, bluegills and some catfish being caught. Although most streams here are low but otherwise in fair to good condition, fishing pressure is down and few fish are being taken.

DISTRICT 2, NORTHWEST—ern the Maumee River, Maumee Bay and Sandusky River have been productive of white bass, perch, sheepshead and crappies. The Upper Huron and Vermilion Rivers are clear and smallmouth bass and bullheads have been biting well. Findlay and Fostoria Reservoirs are clear and catfish and walleyes are biting well.

DISTRICT 3, NORTHEAST—ERN—The following lakes and reservoirs report fair to good fishing: Pleasant Hill, Charles Mill, Atwood, Leesville, Guilford, Zepernick, Clendenning, Tappan and Berlin, Lake Milton and Lake Park. A few muskies have come from Leesville and walleyes from Berlin and Lake Milton.

DISTRICT 4, SOUTHEAST—ERN—There are a few bright spots in this section: The best fishing is coming from Burr Oak, Dow, Forked Run, Dillon and Seneca Lakes. Among the streams, the Muskingum, Little Muskingum and the Whalbonding have been producing some large, outstanding catches of bass and catfish.

DISTRICT 5, SOUTHWEST—ERN—Lake fishing here is just fair. Water conditions are good at Grant, Clark, Cowan, Rocky Fork and Acton. Fishing results, however, have not been outstanding. Several streams, especially the Great Miami and Stillwater Rivers, report good results.

LAKE ERIE AND SANDUSKY BAY—Smallmouth bass and white bass continue to hit around the island area and some walleyes are being taken at Niagara Reef, Kellys Island and Gull Island. In Sandusky Bay yellow perch are biting well and channel catfish continue to run. Outlook for the weekend here is fair to good depending upon weather conditions.

Pile of Bills Awaits Solons After Holiday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers have departed from the Statehouse for an extended July 4 holiday weekend but they may have to make up the lost time next week.

Legislative leaders spoke Thursday of a possible Friday session to compensate for the late return on Tuesday. They said this would help relieve the crush of bills leading to the waning days of the assembly, now in its seventh month.

Bills to curb monopolistic practices in the dairy industry and to stabilize the Highway Patrol pension plan drew the lawmakers' attention Thursday.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill that would ban "loss leader" dairy sales by chain stores and supermarkets. Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-Belmont, and other supporters said the proposal would permit small, independent dairymen to survive in the highly competitive market.

Sargus told the Senate the "loss" sales are designed to lure customers into stores with the expectation they will make other purchases. "This means the smaller dairies also have to sell below costs or go out of business," he said.

Opponents included Sen. Ed Garrigan, R-Summit, who said the legislation would increase milk prices and at the same time "protect the inefficient and defend the use of outdated equipment."

Representatives gave their approval to the measure to boost payments in the Highway Patrol pension fund and to increase benefits for widows and orphans of members.

Widows' pensions would go from $60 a month to $90 and those of orphans from $30 to $90 monthly.

Contributions from patrolmen would advance from five to seven per cent and the state's from five to not less than nine.

In other actions, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

—Provide a maximum fine of $200 and six months in jail for making false threats to damage property.

—Change the official name of beauty parlors to beauty salons and tighten licensing regulations.

—Permit the sale of 11 acres of Massillon State Hospital land to Peoples Cartage, Inc., Massillon, for expansion.

—Authorize city planning commissions to receive federal, state, and local funds.

Senators voted to extend the terms of village solicitors to four years, convey 23 acres of land to the Canton City School District, appropriate $500,000 to pay state criminal costs, and revise laws setting standards for seed and "economic poisons" such as insecticides and defoliant.

STUDY MOON LANDING—This is NASA's Lunar Landing Research Facility in operation at Hampton, Va. The facility is 250 feet high, 400 long and provides a controlled laboratory for scientists to work with research pilots to develop techniques for landing a rocket vehicle on the Moon, where gravity is only one-sixth Earth's. The vehicle you see is controlled by thrust from main rockets and a system of small maneuvering rockets. The cables are attached to a hoist system to simulate Moon gravity.

U.S. Medics Frustrated By Viet Hospital Setup

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Covered with massive, red napalm burns, the boy whimpered in pain as the nurse removed the bandages from his skinny, scorched body. He would die.

A pretty girl dozed in a twilight state of semiconsciousness with a bullet wound in her chest. She had also been shot in the thigh eight months earlier.

Another boy, suffering deep shock, looked into space with an expressionless stare. He had seen his mother, father and two sisters killed in their peasant village.

These are victims of the Vietnamese war. They are Vietnamese children with no future and a past filled with horror. They were brought to Da Nang's only civilian hospital where a skilled team of American doctors and nurses try to practice 20th century medicine under 19th century conditions.

4-H Club Spends 3 Days at Lake

The Town and Country 4-H Club has completed a three-day stay at Buckeye Lake Park.

The three-day trip has been an ambition of the club for two years. The 4-Hers conducted several fund-raising projects during the past two years before the trip could become a reality.

Many activities kept the group busy including fishing, bowling, swimming, hiking, picnics, amusement rides and a moonlight cruise on the Mary Carlin, lake cruiser.

Participating in the trip were Sharon Mace, Jessica Peart, Mary Ward, Jane Van Dyke, Beverly Sowers, Sheila Christy, O. Lou Lintner and Delores Karshner.

Advisers were Mrs. Jesse Peart, Mrs. Leonard Squeo and Mrs. Franklin Mace Sr.

The U.S. surgical team — one of two such civilian teams in South Viet Nam on loan from the U.S. Public Health Service — has been here since early 1963. Its function under the U.S. Operations Mission, an overseas aid program, is to help counter Communist insurgency and spread American good will.

One U.S. aid official calls the program an enormous success, on balance, but adds that it faces overwhelming odds in a land where the practice of modern medicine is virtually impossible.

"Our main purpose is to pay our bills and to save as many people from dying as possible," said Louis M. Wahrmond of Fredericksburg, Tex., a regional director.

The medical experiment started off with four civilian teams but dwindled to half this number because of lack of recruits from the United States. The American doctors, who volunteer their services, wind up frustrated and embittered, victims of what they call cultural shock.

Dr. Vernon Fitchett, 37, of Newell, Iowa, the chief medical officer, describes the condition this way:

"You come here thinking you're going to change things. Then you find out the hospital has no hot water, no sewage system and often no electricity.

"The flies in our wards wouldn't be tolerated in a pig sty. Hospitals in the states have semiprivate rooms, but we have semiprivate cots, two or three patients to a cot.

"You perform a five-hour operation, but the patient dies because no blood is available, or there's a lack of trained nurses.

"So you come to accept that you cannot transfer the miracle of modern medicine from our culture to one that is ill-prepared for it. So you adopt another set of standards over here."

Swim Team Loses to Strong UA

The Circleville Swim team earned 12 first places, but dropped a 258-155 match yesterday with a strong host Upper Arlington squad.

The Roundtown swimmers had one triple winner for the evening in Dennis Russell. Earning double wins for the locals were Debbie Shea, Craig Dresbach and Mark Ralston.

Coach Jim Shea's performers were able to capture two more first places than they did last week against Mt. Vernon. Shea termed the Arlington team as one of the toughest in this section.

The Circleville swimmers' next competition is due Thursday when Hilltop comes to the local pool. The meet, open to the public, starts at 6:30 p.m.

HERE are the local event winners in last night's match: 100 meter medley relay, girls 10 and under — Helwagen, Guenther, Rhoades, Kutler;

200 meter medley relay, boys 14 and under — Dresbach, Ralston, Russell, Kreiger;

ASC Office Now Accepting Committee Nominations

Slates of nominees for membership on Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees will soon be established at the local ASC office.

According to Galen D. Mowery, chairman, the present ASC committee is making a special effort to encourage the greatest possible participation of voters in the election. He said all local residents eligible to take part in the ASCS farm program may vote and hold office, regardless of race, color, creed or national origin. Mowery said today those eligible to vote in the committee elections also have the right to nominate as candidates for committee membership any farmer who is eligible and willing to serve. Such petitions, each one nominating one farmer and signed by six or more eligible voters may be filed at the county office before July 14, 1965.

Eligible voters may sign as many petitions as they wish. Additional nominations may be made by the incumbent ASC community and county committees.

"WE WANT the best man available to serve on our ASC committee," Chairman Mowery declared, "because the committee system is the backbone of farm programs — those dealing with conservation of soil and water, as well as the price support activities for various commodities.

In the last few years, the farmer-elected committee system — unique in the history of agriculture — has been studied intensively by a committee of farm and public administration experts especially appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture for that purpose. The system not only has been retained, but has been greatly strengthened."

Here in Pickaway County, Mowery points out, many farmers took part last year in one or more programs administered by the ASC Committee.

ASC committeemen in Pickaway County are in effect board members of a big business, Mowery said. "This points up the urgency in getting out the greatest possible cross-section of farmers in community elections."

A farmer eligible to vote in the committee elections, according to Mowery, is generally one who is eligible to take part in one or more of the national farm programs which the ASC committee helps to administer. A person qualified to hold office as a committeeman is a local resident who is eligible to vote in the election and who meets other qualifications.

Further information on these and other qualifications may be obtained from the ASCS county office.

EACH community election will choose three community committeemen and two alternates. The chairman, vice chairman, and third regular member of the elected ASC community committee will also serve as delegates — and the alternate committeemen will serve as alternate delegates — to the county convention to be held soon. The ASC county committee will be chosen at the convention.

Navy Officer Pens Book To Rap Pentagon

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — A U.S. Navy officer today disclosed that he assumed a Russian name to write a book highly critical of some Pentagon and Navy thinking, and nursed his secret for two years.

Comdr. John A. Davis Jr., 43, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, confirmed in an interview today that he authored the fictional work, "Shadow of Peril." Today was his last day in the Navy, following his voluntary retirement.

The pen name he used was Aleksandr I Zhdanov, who is described as a Soviet submarine captain.

In the book, Zhdanov (Davis) accuses some U.S. admirals of hushing up reports of U.S. weaknesses at sea in order to get more air power, and takes a few swings at some Pentagon policies on antisubmarine warfare.

Davis wrote the book while he was an antisubmarine adviser to the chief of naval operations in the Pentagon in 1962.

The main theme of the story contends Soviet submarines can easily penetrate U.S. defenses and threaten U.S. naval forces.

Location Changed
The location of the 4-H talent screening contest has been changed to the St. Philip's Church Parish House.

The contest will be held 7:30 p. m. on July 19. It originally had been scheduled at the Lutheran Church Parish House.
